

Army Of Census Takers Goes To 'Battle' On Wednesday

120,000 WILL START COUNT IN AMERICA

April Selected Because "Average American Family" Is Found at Home

Washington—(AP)—The mighty 1930 census mill which will tally and tabulate the population of these United States is mobilized and motorized, ready to go bright and early Wednesday morning.

Its 120,000 census takers, reporting to 575 supervisors, have been instructed on how to scrutinize every apartment house, and sleuth out every hermit in a hunt on a remote river bank.

To census headquarters here, every hermit is a family and must be counted as such. "Falls must be taken too of the sailors out at sea. Every body counts with Uncle Sam. This aim is to be accurate."

That is one reason why the month of April was set for census taking. "It is considered a between-season time when the adventuring 'average American family' is most likely to be found at home."

HARD TO FIND
"Americans are gadabouts and the hardest question in the census is where to enumerate them," said one expert in the office of the bureau chief.

Nationally illuminating facts on unemployment, literacy, industries, agriculture, and racial proportions glaze behind the marks the census taker makes in the little blank squares on the big schedules.

The many ramifications of the great 1930 census mill are therefore of cast importance, and the basement packing rooms of the census bureau were full of last-minute flurry today as plentiful extra supplies of big brown portfolios filled with schedules in variegated colors were being rushed out to supervisors.

With one of these big brown portfolios under his arm, and an assortment of 20,000 possible questions on the tip of his tongue, a census taker will come calling on you within two weeks after April 2, if you live in the city, within 30 days thereafter if you live on the farm.

GIANT OIL GUSHER IS PUT UNDER CONTROL

Oklahoma City, Okla.—(AP)—The giant No. 1 Mary Sudik oil well in the South Oklahoma City field was under control today after having spouted thousands of barrels of petroleum over the surrounding territory since last Wednesday. The Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company, owner of the well, announced that the well was choked in last night.

WAGES OF GIN TURN OUT TO BE RAID BY PROHIBITION AGENTS

Lake Geneva—(AP)—The wages of gin sometimes turn out to be a federal prohibition raid. Like-wise the wages of moonshine.

A. H. Bell walked into the office of Justice Richard Short and asked for assistance in collecting back wages.

"What are these wages for?" asked the judge.

"Why, for helping to make moonshine on a farm near here."

Justice Short called the district attorney. The result of the conference was a raid on the farm of Casimir Zyskowski and the seizure of stills, mash and moonshine.

But Zyskowski denied ownership of the still. He said he leased the shack to Dell. The agents took them both to jail in Milwaukee, where they wait a commissioner's hearing today.

JOIN BUSINESS WORLD, FARMERS ARE ADVISED

Madison—(AP)—An expression of a hope that Wisconsin farmers soon will become factors in the business world was made by H. M. Knapp, commissioner of agriculture and markets, in a radio address over WTJL, Milwaukee, Saturday night.

He based his hope of results of three months cooperative marketing work by the state.

"Work is actively proceeding in the cooperative marketing of many Wisconsin farm products," he said.

"A strong dairy organization and a powerful centralized marketing system for the several dairy products is the goal of the department of agriculture and markets."

He said the livestock producers were to meet soon to organize county and state federations of shipping associations.

In the old Colonial days sugar was a luxury and sometimes cost more than 75 cents a pound.

TRY TO REACH 16 MEN HELD IN MINE TOMB

But Rescuers Near Despair for Captives in Kentucky Disaster

Kettle Island, Ky.—(AP)—Spurred by the hope that they would reach in a few hours the 16 men entombed by an explosion Saturday far back in the Pioneer Coal company mine here, but almost despairing that any are alive, rescue workers today tolled desperately repairing the damaged ventilating system.

Word was brought back a mile and a half along the shaft late last night that the rescue crews were within 200 feet of where they believed the entombed men to be, but the air was so thick with carbon monoxide that gas masks afforded scant protection.

This information added to the despair of the families of the trapped men, clustered in the open near the mine entrance, but still they hoped. All but one of the men, a boy 17 years old, had families.

The air was so dangerous that 15 of the rescue workers were affected last night.

The one hope held for the entombed men was that they might have escaped falling debris that followed the explosion, and erected temporary walls of lumber and air-tight cloth provided in constructing the mine, thereby excluded the foul air that follows explosions.

The blast, the origin of which was still undetermined, put the ventilating system out of order, and it was hours before the huge exhaust fan that removes the foul air was operating again.

The great gas kites rescue crews faced was to rebuild the demolished brattice walls, which make it possible for the exhaust fan on the outside to suck air through the mine.

One consolation was that the explosion did not occur on any other day than Saturday, for that afternoon 400 men who ordinarily dig and load coal far under the mountain that overshadows this camp were not at work.

Germany has a home-building boom.

BALLARD TO TALK AT VOTERS' MASS MEET

C. B. Ballard, candidate for chairman of the town of Grand Chute in opposition to A. W. Laabs, incumbent, will be the speaker at a mass meeting at the Grand Chute town hall at 8 o'clock Monday evening. Mr. Ballard has arranged the meeting himself.

BLAME DEFECTIVE WHEEL FOR CRASH

Two Appletonians Injured as Automobile Turns Over in Ditch

A defective steering wheel is believed to have caused the automobile driven by Fred Lillge, Jr., 510 E. Pacific street, Appleton, to turn over into a ditch three miles east of Rosendale at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, injuring three people. The automobile was badly damaged.

Mrs. Lillge is in bed with severe body bruises, lacerations and possible internal injuries, while Mr. Lillge suffered a badly wrenched hip and body bruises. George Cobb, De Forest, the third occupant of the car, escaped injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillge were on their way to Madison to visit their son, Milton, who is attending the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Lillge attempted to turn the machine back onto the road when it swerved suddenly toward a deep ditch, but the steering apparatus failed to function, and the machine crashed over the embankment, it was reported.

GERMAN PROHIBITION
Berlin—Picture prohibition in the land of drinking songs and steins—Germany. It is possible, for at a recent Parliament meeting, a motion was adopted by the majority of one vote authorizing the state to forbid the retail sale of liquor of high alcoholic content during certain hours of the morning and on election days.

MANAGER CAMPAIGN EXPENSES $1,221

Opponents to Plan Spent $1,205, Expense Accounts Show

Promotion of the campaign for city manager form of government cost the committee $1,221.44, while the manager opponents spent $1,205.76, according to expense accounts filed with Carl Becher, city clerk, Saturday. Items on both accounts included newspaper and circular advertising, speakers expenses, office rental, stenographic work, and telephone bills.

Other expense accounts filed include: Albert C. Rule, $135.28; John Goodland, Jr., $154.72; Fred Bachman, $84.50; Herman Holterman, $40; Alfred Bosser, $239.20; F. F. Wheeler, $115.00; George Peotter, $22.36; F. P. Young, $31.54; C. W. Zelle, $13.40; George Brautigan, $3.50; Richard Reifke, $5.50; George Richard, $7.75; Richard Groth, $5; Harvey Eribe, $8; H. G. Kitter, $8; Francis Cooney, $18.04; and Cornelius Crowe, $11.50. C. J. Wassenberg, Mike Steinhauer, C. D. Thompson, Seymour Gmeiner, C. T. Mace, Hildegard McNiesch, and the Fifth ward Voters league filed accounts listing no expenditures.

Ladysmith—(AP)—For the first time in months, housewives of Ladysmith today could use city water without fear of the results. The water supply was declared safe by the state board of health.

MR. AND MRS. VOTER Does The Truth Interest You?

Under the above heading, in an advertisement in the Post-Crescent on March 29, I quote Mr. Bosser:

"The revision of the city ordinances is not a part of the city attorneys work and has never been considered a part of his work. In 1927 the common council directed the hiring of counsel to undertake the most thorough revision of your ordinances ever attempted. My opponent now charges me with the amount paid such counsel for his work."

NOTHING IS MORE MISLEADING THAN HALF TRUTHS READ THE WHOLE TRUTH

MARCH 25, 1927, THE ORDINANCE REVISION COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL PASSED THIS RESOLUTION:

"It was moved that the matter of revising the City Ordinances be placed UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE CITY ATTORNEY and that HE be hereby authorized to proceed with the work as soon as possible and that HE be further authorized to engage such assistance as HE may deem necessary to complete the work."

THE FOLLOWING IS THE CONTRACT BETWEEN ALFRED C. BOSSER, CITY ATTORNEY, AND L. HUGO AND GUSTAVE J. KELLER.

Whereas the special committee of the Common Council of the City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, duly empowered to revise the ordinances of said City, HAVE DELEGATED THE SUPERVISION OF THE REVISION OF SAID ORDINANCES TO ALFRED C. BOSSER, THE CITY ATTORNEY of the City of Appleton, and have duly instructed and empowered said ALFRED C. BOSSER, AS SUCH CITY ATTORNEY to secure and employ and contract for any necessary assistance in said revision, now therefore in pursuance of said authority, witness this agreement:

The said ALFRED C. BOSSER, AS SAID ATTORNEY OF THE CITY OF APPLETON WISCONSIN, hereby retains and employs L. HUGO KELLER and GUSTAVE J. KELLER, attorneys of the City of Appleton, Wisconsin, to revise said ordinances AND TO RECEIVE FOR THEIR SERVICES, IN THE REVISION, THE SUM OF TWENTY-FIVE ($25.00) PER DAY FOR EVERY DAY ENGAGED UPON SAID WORK.

It is understood and agreed:

1. THAT ALL THE WORK DONE IN THIS REVISION IS AT ALL TIMES SUBJECT TO THE SUPERVISION OF ALFRED C. BOSSER, THE CITY ATTORNEY.

2. That L. HUGO KELLER and GUSTAVE J. KELLER, attorneys, shall keep a true and accurate account of the time expended in this revision and to MAKE PERIODICAL REPORTS OF THE PROGRESS OF THE WORK TO THE SAID ALFRED C. BOSSER, THE CITY ATTORNEY.

3. (Not quoted, but requires work to commence forthwith.)

4. (Not quoted, but defines a day as 8 hours.)

That L. HUGO KELLER and GUSTAVE J. KELLER, attorneys, are to indemnify and save the said ALFRED C. BOSSER harmless from any damages for work done under or by virtue of this contract.

The said L. HUGO KELLER and GUSTAVE J. KELLER, attorneys, accept the employment and agree to render such services upon the terms and conditions above set forth.

IN witness thereof, the parties have hereunto fixed their names at Appleton, Wisconsin, this first day of April, 1927.

ALFRED C. BOSSER,
City Attorney
L. HUGO KELLER
GUSTAVE J. KELLER."

WHAT ABOUT FINES INCREASING THE CITY'S INCOME?
Between April 1, 1928 and March 26, 1930 .. 792 Criminal Cases
The City Attorney appeared in .. 24 Cases
An Assistant in .. 1 Case

The City was NOT represented in 795 cases.
The efficient police department and Judge Berg are responsible.

WHAT ABOUT THE INTERURBAN STREET CAR TRACKS?
The Street Car company didn't pay one cent of the cost of the sub-way, because they took up their rails OUTSIDE the city 2 years ago.

On Aug. 21, 1929, the City Attorney was told to write a letter to the Traction Co to remove their tracks. The letter was not written then, and the tracks are still there. WHY.

WHAT ABOUT THE STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT WITH THE POWER CO?
Approved by a committee, whose chairman is an employee of the Power Co; also approved by the City Attorney. WHY.
The law declares such a contract void.

A CHANGE IS NECESSARY

F. F. WHEELER,

Candidate for CITY ATTORNEY

These statements are the WHOLE TRUTH. They are made without any ill will toward Mr. Bosser, with whom I have always been friendly, but FACTS ARE FACTS.

I AM NOT CONNECTED IN ANY WAY WITH THE TRACTION CO.

THESE CONCLUSIONS FOLLOW:

1. The council empowered a committee to act in the revision of City Ordinances.

2. This committee placed the matter under the personal direction and supervision of the City Attorney, authorizing him to engage such assistance as he deemed necessary.

3. The City Attorney, PERSONALLY, employed L. HUGO KELLER and GUSTAVE J. KELLER at a salary of $25.00 per day, and required periodical reports from them of the progress of the work.

4. The work done was at all times subject to the personal supervision of the City Attorney.

5. L. Hugo Keller and Gustave J. Keller were paid at least $5,250.00, and the City Attorney PERSONALLY APPROVED all city vouchers in payment of the work, except vouchers totaling $1,200.00.

6. City Auditors charge at least $5,940.80 to ordinance revision since Jan. 1st, 1927. (This amount probably includes expenses of L. Hugo Keller on various trips to Madison and Marinette, and some, but not all, other expenses properly chargeable to ordinance revision.)

IT MAY NOT BE THE WORK OF THE CITY ATTORNEY TO REVISION THE CITY ORDINANCES BUT THE PUBLIC RECORDS FORCE THE CITY ATTORNEY TO ACCEPT FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE STAGGERING COST OF THIS ORDINANCE REVISION, BECAUSE THE COUNCIL AND COMMITTEE ORDERED A REVISION OF THE ORDINANCES, NOT "THE MOST THOROUGH REVISION OF ORDINANCES EVER ATTEMPTED"; THE COMMITTEE PLACED THE ENTIRE MATTER IN HIS HANDS; HE PERSONALLY HIRED THE LAWYERS THAT DID THE WORK; HE RECEIVED PERIODICAL REPORTS OF THE PROGRESS OF THE WORK, AND HE PERSONALLY APPROVED CITY VOUCHERS AMOUNTING TO $4,050.00 AND DID NOT OBJECT TO THE OTHERS.

The quotations, figures and dates, are quoted from public records, on file with the City Clerk, EXCEPT THE CONTRACT BETWEEN ALFRED C. BOSSER, CITY ATTORNEY, AND L. HUGO KELLER AND GUSTAVE J. KELLER, WHICH IS NOT NOW, AND NEVER HAS BEEN FILED WITH THE CLERK.

THE CITY PAID $400.00 IN 1907 TO HAVE THE CITY ORDINANCES REVISED; IN 1918, THE CITY PAID THE THEN CITY ATTORNEY $1,200.00 FOR THE SAME WORK.

WHY SHOULD THE SAME JOB COST NEARLY 500% MORE NOW?

ASK THE CITY ATTORNEY. HE IS RESPONSIBLE

Mr. and Mrs. Voter

50 Reasons Why You Should VOTE FOR CITY MANAGER

Read Them--Keep Them In Mind When You Go To The Polls Tomorrow

1. Aldermanic Government has piled up a current city debt on the taxpayers of Appleton of approximately $250,000.
2. Aldermanic Government has raised the tax rate in Appleton to $35 a thousand, one of the highest rates in the state.
3. Aldermanic Government has run up the cost of city government in Appleton to the stupendous total of $806,307.29 in 1929, WITHOUT SCHOOL COSTS.
4. Aldermanic Government with a high tax rate reduced the city debt only $12,000 in 1929. It will take twenty years to pay it off at that rate.
5. Aldermanic Government cannot consistently give you lower taxes until the current debt is paid.
6. Aldermanic Government spent the huge total of $197,717.63 in its street department in 1929 without any permanent improvements. This is at least twice what it should be.
7. Aldermanic Government considers comparison with Janesville odious, but there is no better parallel of a city under city manager control—same size—same topography—same climatic conditions. Yet Appleton's tax rate is $35.00 and Janesville's only $22.00.
8. Aldermanic Government spent $806,307.29 in 1929 for city operations, while Janesville operated its city for $415,041.27, about half as much.
9. Aldermanic Government spent $197,717.63 in 1929 in its street department while Janesville took care of its streets with $63,276.80, about one-third as much, and Janesville has 17 more miles of open streets.
10. Aldermanic Government has failed to provide an adequate health department, garbage and sewage disposal as provided in Janesville.
11. Aldermanic Government is out of date, inefficient, wasteful, extravagant, slow, cumbersome and irresponsible.
12. Aldermanic Government is rapidly growing into bad repute throughout the country.
13. Aldermanic Government has been replaced by the city manager plan in 516 American cities and only 8 have abandoned the plan.
14. Aldermanic Government has been replaced by city manager in 108 cities by vote of their aldermanic council, thus admitting the absolute inability of the aldermanic plan to meet present day municipal requirements.
15. Aldermanic Government and its defenders have not presented a single sound or sensible argument why that form should be retained in Appleton.
16. Aldermanic Government defenders have raved and ranted about "monsters," "dictators," "emperors", etc. to try and get your mind off their own shortcomings.
17. Aldermanic Government defenders have talked long and loud about Nero, Trotsky, and Stalin, but not one word have they said about Brautigan, McGillan or Gmeiner.
18. Aldermanic Government defenders and their outside paid propagandist from Green Bay have had much to say about the Post-Crescent but never peeped about the support of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. is giving their cause.
19. Aldermanic Government defenders have maligned and slandered nearly everyone connected with the City Manager, but not a word about their own iniquities, an illegal lighting contract, illegal expense accounts, illegal car allowances, etc.
20. ALDERMANIC GOVERNMENT COST THE TAXPAYERS OF APPLETON $40,000 WHEN IT APPROVED A DELAY IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE E. WISCONSIN AVE. SUBWAY UNTIL AFTER THE WISCONSIN MICHIGAN POWER CO. HAD ABANDONED ITS INTERURBAN RAILWAY. THIS DELAY SAVED THE POWER COMPANY $40,000 WHICH WOULD HAVE REDUCED THE CITY'S SHARE BY A LIKE AMOUNT.
21. Aldermanic Government buried thousands of dollars more of the taxpayers money in city improvements on a neighboring farm, serving practically no population.
22. Aldermanic Government spent approximately $25,000 more of the taxpayers money in useless litigation during the past two or three years.
23. Aldermanic Government, feigning democracy, denied the petitions of 4600 voters for an election which would permit the new form to become effective tomorrow had it carried.
24. Aldermanic Government in Appleton has been notorious for its political log-rolling, back scratching, ward trading, etc., even to the extent to trading a band concert in one ward for a sewer in another.
25. Aldermanic Government in Appleton has become thoroughly discredited by the type of campaign its defenders have engaged in to save it. Their campaign of innuendo, malice, slander, falsehood, their appeal to passion, prejudice and hatred backed and supported by the city hall politicians, the Power Co. and Art Jones are enough in themselves to make every self-respecting, thinking voter want a change.
26. City Manager Government will introduce modern, efficient and business-like methods into the conduct of city business.
27. City Manager Government will give Appleton a business administration of city affairs, badly needed at this time.
28. City Manager Government by the application of efficiency and economy WILL REDUCE YOUR TAXES.
29. City Manager Government will give you ready access to a man in authority when you have business to transact with the city.
30. City Manager Government will do away to a large extent the slow, cumbersome methods of committee government we have now. You will get immediate results.
31. City Manager Government will be directed by a council of seven members, every one of whom represents the entire city.
32. City Manager Government will provide the same access to your councilmen as you now have under aldermanic system.
33. City Manager Government is the fastest growing city government movement in the history of the country.
34. City Manager Government provides that a manager who does not prove satisfactory can be discharged at any time by a vote of the council.
35. City Manager Government has had the indorsement of labor organizations in dozens of cities throughout the country.
36. City Manager Government is not a new, untried experiment. It has been in existence since 1903, and has worked successfully in towns of only a few hundred population up to many metropolitan cities.
37. City Manager Government will keep Appleton in line with the progressive cities of Wisconsin which have adopted the plan; namely, Kenosha, Janesville, Beloit, Shorewood, Rhinelander, Stevens Point and Two Rivers. Four more cities are voting on the plan tomorrow — Marinette, Watertown, Fort Atkinson and Appleton.
38. City Manager Government and its accomplishments in Kenosha were principally responsible for that city winning the Wisconsin Better Cities contest a few years ago.
39. City Manager Government has put more than 500 American cities in the forefront as the best and most economically governed in the country.
40. City Manager Government advocates in Appleton represent every walk in life. No clique, no faction, no special interests, but a united citizenry working for relief from high taxes and for an improved municipal government.
41. City Manager Government advocates in Appleton count among their number many staunch labor leaders, union labor members, small home owners—all looking forward to saving money under the plan.
42. CITY MANAGER GOVERNMENT WILL SAVE THE TAXPAYERS MONEY. We make this statement with a firm conviction that our prophecy will be fulfilled if the plan is adopted.
43. City Manager Government will eliminate the political log-rolling, back-scratching and ward trading we have experienced under aldermanic form.
44. City Manager Government can be ousted at any time it does not prove satisfactory to the voters. It is not necessary to have it four years as has been erroneously stated during the past few days.
45. City Manager Government is thoroughly democratic. Wisconsin laws governing its operations have seen to that. It is operated by a council forming the legislative branch and a manager who is the executive.
46. City Manager Government is operated on the same broad democratic principles as the State of Wisconsin; the council, like the legislature, is the legislative department, and the manager, like the governor, is the administrator.
47. City Manager Government is operated on the same democratic principles as the Government of the United States. The council, like congress, is the legislative department, and the manager, like the president, is the executive.
48. City Manager Government sponsors consist of a committee of 100 whose names have been printed time and again. There is no secret to their identity.
49. City Manager Government sponsors have not hid behind the skirts of a figure-head chairman and secretary. They have conducted their campaign in the open, above board, clean and upright.
50. City Manager Government advocates are in the open fighting secret politicians and special interests in the interests of all the citizens, in the interests of better government and for LOWER TAXES.

There Is Only One Question For You, Mr. and Mrs. Voter To Decide Tomorrow and That Is—"Do You Want BETTER GOVERNMENT and LOWER TAXES If So

Democrat Predicts House "Gag Rule" On Tariff Bill

SAYS GRUNDY RULES PARTY HEADS' ACTION

Ragon of Arkansas Finds House Lacks Sympathy With Agriculture

Washington—(P)—A prediction that the Republican leaders in the house would pass a "gag rule" when the tariff bill is considered was made today by Representative Ragon of Arkansas, a Democratic member of the ways and means committee.

Taking the floor as the Republican leaders sought to clear the way for consideration of the tariff, the Arkansas member declared that the Republican leadership was "so saturated with Grundism" that it has not the proper sympathy with the interest of the agricultural people of the country.

He said that the "four horsemen" of the tariff bill would not permit a consideration of the senate measure in the house, and pleaded for an aggressive minority to take the floor.

He enumerated the "four horsemen" as Speaker Longworth; Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, whom he called first lieutenant; Chairman Shell of the ways and means committee, whom he called second lieutenant, and Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee, whom he described as "first sergeant."

SEES NO SURRENDER
This group, he said, had forced a "gag rule" on the house when the tariff was up for consideration originally. He predicted that they would not permit any consideration of the senate measure in the house, and added that unless one believed in Santa Claus and Easter rabbits, "you cannot believe that those who engineered the Hawley bill through this house last May will capitulate and permit a consideration" of the senate amendment.

"The United States senate," Ragon asserted, "has done nothing within the last 25 years which ought to commend it more to the people of this country than its act of dissection and bringing to light the nefarious schemes which are incorporated in the Hawley bill."

Ragon read parts of a letter from the National Grange which said the tariff bill as passed by the senate fell short "of placing agriculture on a basis of equality with industry, as was intended in the last presidential campaign."

He went on to say that "upon the best authority to be had we find that the tariff endeavors of congress for the last 14 months have entirely missed the mark at which they aimed. . . . Instead of placing agriculture on a parity with industry we simply widened the gulf, to the hurt of agriculture."

Ragon said that under present conditions the debtors belong in the tariff bill, and expressed the opinion that every minority member in the house would support the senate flexible clause.

RATES ON COAL CARGOES HELD UNJUSTIFIABLY HIGH

Washington—(P)—The Interstate Commerce commission today held unjustifiably high the proposed rates of the railroads on bituminous coal shipped by river to Columbia and Conway, Pa., and from there by rail to Youngstown, Ohio.

For the first time the roads proposed to establish a proportional rate of $1.02 per net ton on the ex-press coal.

The commission said that it rates coal which will induce its free movement from the river mines to Youngstown and nearby points they must not be any higher than the level of all railroads from the general producing district. Any rate which is established, the commission said, must afford a basis for the subsequent establishment of rates from Conway and Columbia to Cleveland, Canton, Toledo, and other large consuming points or for transshipment at lake ports to the head of the lakes.

HERE'S NEW CHARGE FOR ALIENATION SUIT

Chicago—(P)—Something new in the way of an alienation of affections suit was filed today in superior court.

Mrs. Caroline Vig, 40, filed suit asking $25,000 of Marcel Katz and his wife, Nan, of Riverside, charging that they alienated the affection of Mrs. Vig's husband, Emanuel, by keeping him under the influence of liquor for the last eight years.

SEE INCREASE IN POTATO ACREAGE

More Grain, Tobacco and Beans Also Will Be Planted in State

Madison—(P)—Reports from farmers throughout the state reveal that increases in the acreage of corn, potatoes, barley, wheat, tobacco and beans will be made this year, the Crop Reporting Service of the Wisconsin and United States Department of Agriculture announced today.

The departments also announced that decreases are expected in oats, hay and some minor crops.

The leading cash crops—potatoes—will be an increase of only seven per cent this year as compared with an earlier indicated increase of 15 per cent, it was announced. Growers of large acreages show a tendency to reduce acreage while farms with only small acreages show increases, the department said.

Last year Wisconsin's potato acreage was reduced 30 per cent and compared with last year's increase this year will leave it below the acreage of two years ago.

"Grain crops which in Wisconsin are largely used for feeding purposes all show increases except oats and rye," the department announced.

"The indicated increase in corn is two per cent above last year's acreage, that of barley six per cent above year, and winter wheat 15 per cent. A decrease of one per cent is indicated in the acreage of oats and rye. Tame hay, the leading crop from a standpoint of acreage—is going to be reduced about two per cent according to crop reports.

"According to the reports of Wisconsin farmers the hay acreage will be reduced about two per cent as compared with last year.

"Farmers for the United States as a whole are also planning extensive changes this year. Of these the most important probably are an increase of 2.5 in corn, 2.5 per cent in oats, and 3.4 per cent in potatoes.

HEAVY SNOWFALL LAST WEEK FAILS TO BLOCK ROADS

Sun and County Highway Departments Open All Lanes of Traffic

Although a heavy snowfall blocked most of the roads in the state for more than 24 hours last week, all highways were open to traffic Monday morning as a result of the warmer weather of the past two days, according to a report from the state highway department.

The worst of the storm hit the eastern and southern sections of the state, and as a result the unpaved roads in those sections will be in bad condition for some time.

Following is a complete report on the roads:

Highway No. 2—Hurley to Superior. Hurley to Ashland fair.

Highway No. 3—Niagara to St. Croix Falls. Fair entire distance.

Highway No. 10—Manitowish to Hudson. Fair to good entire distance.

Highway No. 11—Madison to La Crosse. Good condition.

Highway No. 12—Lake Geneva to Hudson. Fair to good. Short detour in village of Middleton and around a marsh between Millston and Black River Falls.

Highway No. 13—Beloit to Bay View. Fair to good. Fair in Adamsco line to Ashland.

Highway No. 14—Milwaukee to Cassville. Fair.

Highway No. 15—Illinois state line to Milwaukee. Fair.

Highway No. 16—Milwaukee to La Crosse. Good to Kilbourn. Fair to Tomah. Good to La Crosse.

KAUKAUNA MAN IS FINED FOR ASSAULT

Raymond Lummerding, Kaukauna, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty of assault and battery. Lummerding was arrested last week by Police Chief R. J. McCarthy at Kaukauna after he had attacked Joseph Melchior. Lummerding told the court he and Melchior had been on bad terms for a long time.

CHARGE 2 KAUKAUNA MEN WITH LARCENY

Claim Pair Looted Parked Automobiles and Confiscated Contents

Arthur Humphries and Elmer Pangel, Kaukauna, pleaded not guilty before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday morning of petty larceny. The two men were arrested at Kaukauna Monday by Police Chief R. J. McCarthy on charges of looting several automobiles parked on the island and stealing an auto radio and a set of chains and a leather coat.

The chief said some of the stolen articles had been found in the homes of the two men. Chief McCarthy also said the investigation disclosed six hams hidden behind the Faust Well Drilling company office on property owned by Pangel's father.

The chief said he has evidence that these hams were stolen too. Pangel immediately furnished bonds to raise the bond. Preliminary hearing of the case was set for Thursday afternoon.

WEATHER UNCERTAIN FOR NEXT 24 HOURS

The weatherman includes a little of everything in his predictions for this vicinity for the next 24 hours.

Snow probably will fall by Tuesday morning and the mercury is due for a drop Monday night. By Tuesday morning, however, the mercury is due for a rise. Skies probably will be clear by Tuesday night or Wednesday.

Ideal weather conditions prevailed in this vicinity over the weekend. Skies were clear, but the mercury refused to go over the 40 degree mark to make real spring weather.

At 6 o'clock Sunday morning the mercury registered 28 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 33 degrees above zero.

Winds are shifting in the south and south west, which according to normal conditions is a good indication of warmer weather. At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 31 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 41 degrees above zero.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR VOCATIONAL WORKER

Dr. Chester Milton Sanford, nationally known vocational guidance worker who is spending a week conferring Appleton high school students, will speak at Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon. Dr. Sanford was brought to Appleton through funds raised by the senior class of the high school, with assistance from Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, and H.Y. clubs.

TEN MEN ARRESTED IN ALLEGED RUM ROW RING

Boston—(P)—Coast guard officials today believed that a new rum row had been set up off the New England coast with yesterday's arrest of 10 men and the seizure of 230 cases of liquor in Dorchester bay and the abandoning of the speedboat Evelyn Ruth in Provincetown Harbor.

The men were arrested before day-break by officers after the craft had gone ashore and an anonymous tip came to police that "bulky objects" were being moved across the marshes.

With the rising tide, the craft was refloated with William Sovel, one of those arrested who had bailed himself out for $200, is alleged to have returned and raced the boat away into the harbor.

BITTER CAMPAIGN CLOSING TOMORROW

to succeed Chester A. Fowler who is a candidate for reelection. The other candidates are John W. Reynolds of Green Bay, now attorney general for Wisconsin and Raymond J. Cannon of Milwaukee. Mr. Cannon is a suspended Milwaukee attorney who is running on a quasi-progressive platform in which one of the main planks is "vindication." Cannon was suspended by the very court on whose bench he seeks to sit, for alleged participation in "ambulance chasing" at Milwaukee.

Reynolds' campaign has been the most active. Judge Fowler, busy with his duties, has made a limited campaign. Cannon probably has done the most stump speaking, making an extension tour of the state to press his claims.

In the fifth judicial circuit, Judge Sherman E. Smalley, Cuba City, has a formidable opponent in Levi H. Bancroft, federal district attorney at Milwaukee. Bancroft, defeated nine years ago by Smalley, has done no campaigning, a volunteer committee taking care of that. A third candidate is Ray Walcott, Lancaster.

In the Eighth circuit, Judge Clayton P. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, youthful Kobler appointee, is opposed by Philip Lehner, one time Progressive candidate for attorney-general and congress. Three other circuit judges did not have to campaign, finding no opposition. They are Robert S. Cowie, LaCrosse; William R. Foley, Superior; and George Grimm, Jefferson.

Voters, Frank Atkinson, Chippewa Falls and Appleton will vote on the city manager form of government while Kenosha will consider a phase of it. Appleton has had the most bitter campaign and the city's largest vote is expected. Disputes of long standing are bound up in the Watertown election where Mayor A. H. Hartwig also is running for reelection.

The Smith campaign has arisen to plague G. Schmedeman, Democratic candidate for governor, ex-minister to Norway, who is seeking reelection as mayor of Madison. He avowed himself wet in 1928 and now the W. C. T. U. of Madison has endorsed his opponent, Alderman C. E. McCampbell. At Oshkosh, where 12 persons sought the nomination, F. H. Josslyn, capitalist and T. G. Brown, secretary of the Winnebago County fair, contested. Both pledge a "business administration."

PERSONALS

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, is ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Luebke of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harp of Freedom visited Mr. Harp's brother Charles, in Milwaukee, Sunday.

Mr. Harp is a former resident of this city, is seriously ill at his home in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Oral Mace has returned from a ten days' visit with relatives at Milwaukee.

Mrs. Walter Bogan, 903 W. Winnebago-st., returned Friday from a trip to Washington and California.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ehke and children Karl and Anita, 1411 N. Appleton-st., and Miss Viola Grunst, spent Sunday at Milwaukee with Roland Ehke who is attending Concordia college.

INSURANCE SALESMEN ENJOY STAG PARTY

A stage party for 12 assistants in the Appleton and Neenah offices of the Prudential Life Insurance company was held in the Blue room of the Conway hotel Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Anita Ehke and children Karl and Anita, 1411 N. Appleton-st., and Miss Viola Grunst, spent Sunday at Milwaukee with Roland Ehke who is attending Concordia college.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jesch, 503 N. Clark-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital.

RUSH REPAIR WORK ON HOTEL IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—Decorators came back to redoubled work today on the Republican house, historic downtown hotel. Over the weekend, the structure had been damaged by a fire which drove nearly 200 guests, including U. S. Marshal J. N. Titterton, Omro, to the street. The fire broke out at the rear of the building Saturday night, and thousands watched firemen bring it under control. Damage was estimated by Fire Chief Peter Steinkellner at $100,000.

ELMER HUCKINS NOW PLEADS GUILTY IN IOWA

Cedar Rapids, Iowa—(P)—Elmer S. Huckins today entered a plea in district court of not guilty to three charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. Judge F. O. Ellison gave no indication of when the case would go to trial.

The charges involve operation by Huckins and his son, George D. Huckins, of a mysterious business enterprise which promised investors 26 and 52 per cent dividends.

Walter J. Baumgardner, Huckins' attorney, made no request for a reduction of the $22,000 bond in default of which his client is held in jail. He told County Attorney Hendrickson that no effort had been made to obtain the money.

Huckins, who was returned here last week from Wautoma, Wis., after attempts to prevent his extradition, conferred with his attorney both before and after entering his plea.

George Huckins, convicted of a similar charge, is to be sentenced by Judge Ellison tomorrow.

EGYPT INDEPENDENCE DISCUSSED AT MEET

London—(P)—A conference which well may prove historic—an effort to devise a treaty meeting the demands for Egyptian independence—began today in the security room of the foreign office with the opening of the Anglo-Egyptian conference.

The proposals which were published last summer, with Foreign Secretary Henderson declaring they represented the extreme limit of British concessions, embody the outstanding problems which will be discussed.

They include defense of the Suez canal, defense of Egypt against foreign intervention, extradition, protection of foreign residents and the proposed withdrawal of British troops to the Suez Canal zone.

The Egyptian delegation is headed by Mustafa Nahas Pasha, premier, and includes three other members of the cabinet.

TWO DROWN AS GREEN BAY ICE YIELDS UNDER TRUCK

Marquette—(P)—Two drownings put an abrupt end today to motor travel on the ice of Green Bay.

Mrs. John Gouly, 43, and Frank Koplnsky, 22, went to their death when the rotten ice broke beneath their truck and they were trapped in the cab. Mr. Gouly, who was riding in the rear, was pulled to safety by fishermen.

The accident occurred near the mouth of the Peshtigo river, where the trio had driven to water. Fishermen took up their nets. The ice broke without warning. Grappling hooks were used today in an effort to locate the truck and bodies.

TWO BADLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Ironwood, Mich.—(P)—Hugo Leicht, 14, Wakefield, was instantly killed and Matt Jussila, 55, Ironton, was seriously injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole near Wakefield yesterday. Defective steering gear was believed the cause of the accident. Jussila sustained a fractured skull. Four others in the car escaped with minor injuries.

U.S. Delegation Gloomy Regarding Security Pact

the grounds that it had been agreed no statement of any kind would be made while the Franco-British negotiations were proceeding.

The French foreign minister, speaking to French newspapermen, said he hoped he could believe that the statement issued last night had not been agreed on. He said that it kind would be issued while these conversations were continuing and he felt publication of this particular statement was scarcely suitable in the circumstances.

Observers were inclined to the belief that Foreign Minister Briand was speaking with his tongue in his cheek when he expressed the hope that the statement had no official authorization. He understood it of this sort and the British press this morning accepted the statement as an official communiqué.

NO NEW DEMANDS
Prime Minister Briand asserted to the newspapers this morning that during the negotiations France had never attempted to demand new commitments from Great Britain. He said France had simply asked recognition of the engagements and international agreements already subscribed to by her as well as a definition of the existing covenant of the league of nations particularly with reference to article sixteen.

(Article 16 deals with measures to be taken by the league of nations in the event that any members of the league should resort to war in disregard of its covenants under the league agreement.)

A brief meeting of the heads of the delegations was held this morning at St. James palace and the agendas for future meetings were discussed. It had been intimated last night that today's meeting would take up important political phases of the conference, but an American spokesman said today that there was no political discussion whatever.

Asked whether there was still hope for a five-power agreement, the spokesman said the British, Italians and French were still working hard and the Americans intended to maintain the position of being "light" and not interfering with their labors.

Jacques Dumesnil of the French delegation had a conference with Ambassador Davies this morning but the nature of their discussion was not divulged. Dumesnil expected to see Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy during the afternoon, this being one of the rare meetings between the French and Italian representatives since the conference started.

Secretary of State Stimson expected to see Prime Minister MacDonald during the day if the latter is not tied up with a conference on Egypt which is now demanding much of the British statesman's attention.

RECOMMENDS FINE FOR GLEN BARTO

Mr. MacDonald told the house of commons today that the British government will still striving for a five-power naval agreement.

Asked whether the government was still adhering to its determination "to arrive at an agreement between the whole five powers taking part in the conference and not between two or three of them," the prime minister replied laconically: "Yes, sir."

Replying to another questioner, the prime minister declined to state whether proposals had been made at the conference for scrapping four cruisers of the Hawkins class.

"I am sure," he said, "there will be general agreement that fragmentation of information given in reply to questions in parliament might not only prove misleading but might also prejudice the success of the conference. Whatever agreement is come to, it will be a systematic balanced whole and must be considered as a complete plan in relation to the program of the other powers."

FUTURE AT STAKE

Washington—(P)—Acting Secretary Cotton said today that he believed this week's negotiations would determine the future course of the London naval conference.

Cotton did not go beyond this brief statement. He had nothing to say on press dispatches from London saying Great Britain in its discussions with France had refused to arrange for any military commitments.

WOMAN SLAIN, MAN HURT AS RESULT OF GUNPLAY

Skowhegan, Me.—(P)—A 21-year-old woman, Mrs. Doris Moran, was dead today and James Henderson, 19, of Madison, Me., was in a critical condition as the aftermath of gunplay by a former suitor at a party of young people.

A charge of murder faces Donald Peterson, 22, whom police say, broke down after the shooting and confessed, declaring jealousy had prompted his act.

The tragedy occurred early yesterday morning at an apartment party after a dance. Pomeroy, entering the room and finding Mrs. Moran and Peterson together, shot them both three times, witnesses said. He submitted to arrest without resistance.

The wounded couple were taken to the Kennebec Valley hospital and the woman died early today.

Police said Pomeroy had told them later he had kept company with Mrs. Moran but that they had recently quarreled. The woman and her husband, a mill worker, had been separated.

JAPAN COMPLETES DRAFT

Tokio—(P)—It was understood here today that Baron Shidekura, foreign minister, had completed a draft of instructions to the Japanese delegation at the London 5-power naval conference, authorizing the acceptance of the Japanese-American formula without material alteration of the figures involved but seeking the assent of the other powers to two possibly three reservations attached to Tokyo's acceptance.

DEATHS

ALBERT J. SCHULTZ
The body of Albert J. Schultz, who died Saturday morning was taken from the Bretschneider funeral home to the residence on W. Wisconsin-ave Monday morning where it will remain until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. It will be taken to the funeral home where services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Theodore March officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

MRS. ANTON JOHNSON
Mrs. Anton Johnson, 78, Waupaca, died at 4 o'clock Sunday morning at her home on Granite-st. after an illness of one day. Death was due to heart disease. Agnetta Thomson was born in Gulbrandsland, Norway, July 25, 1852, and came to America in 1887. She was married to Anton Johnson July 22, 1871. Survivors are her husband, one son, Adolph, Waupaca; five daughters, Mrs. Lester Laux, Mrs. Claude Hinchey, Waupaca; Mrs. Henry Peterson, Arbonne; Mrs. Frank McCaughy, Rhinelander; and Mrs. Tilda Koontz, Waupaca; three sisters, Mrs. Albert Breit, Mrs. Ole Bea, Mrs. Iversen, Waupaca, and her brother, Emil Thomson, Detroit, Mich. The funeral will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon from the home and at 2 o'clock from Our Savior Lutheran church with the Rev. Henry N. Hanson officiating. Burial will be in Lakeside cemetery.

JOHN TOMNEY
John Tomney, 67, died suddenly Sunday in Chicago. He was a former Appleton resident. Survivors are his widow; two sisters, Mrs. F. P. Doherty and Miss Rose Tomney, Appleton; and one brother, James Tomney, Chicago. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at Chicago, with burial there.

CHRIST JULIUS
Christ Julius, 81, died at 4:45 Monday morning at his home in Greenville. He was born March 5, 1849, in Germany, and came to America with his parents at the age of five years, the family moving to a farm in Greenville. He was married 55 years ago. Survivors are his widow; one son Frank; four daughters, Jennie, Augusta, Amanda, and Lucinda, all at home; two brothers, Henry Neenah; Charles, Greenville; and one sister, Mrs. Louisa Stafield, Neenah. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from Greenville Lutheran church, with the Rev. Leonard Kasper officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

QUIET REVOLUTION MAKING DOMINIONS AS FREE AS U. S.

Great Colonies of British Empire Have Secured Self-government

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON.—Thanks to the American War for Independence more than 150 years ago; thanks to the lesson John Bull then took deeply to heart, and finally, thanks to the magnanimity of the British Empire, the British Dominions in the World War—the British Empire promises soon to be composed of the United Kingdom and its colonies, and of Dominions which in all essentials each will be a free and independent United States.

A great silent revolution within the empire has almost been achieved.

Gradually the great colonies have been transformed into self-governing Dominions and since the World War this movement has reached such impetus that they are not now considered subordinate to the mother country, but her equals partners—all bound to each other by the fact that they have the same king.

Four years ago an Imperial Conference was held in London. In its report it declared in relation to the United Kingdom and the Dominions that:—

"They are autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the crown, and freely associated as members of the British commonwealth of nations."

With regard to the position of the governor-general who is named by the British government and sent to each of the Dominions, including the Irish Free State, the Imperial Conference reported that an essential consequence of this equality of status was that the governor, general was the representative of the crown, holding in all essential respects the same position in relation to the administration of public affairs in the Dominion as is held by the king in the United Kingdom, and that he is not the representative or agent of the British government or any department of that government.

CAN'T VETO DOMINION LAWS

These things seemed broad enough and sweeping enough, but there was more to come. The Imperial Conference set up a committee to take various other points under advisement and report to the next Imperial Conference in London this summer. This report has just been completed.

The first point taken up was that of "disallowance." The power of "disallowance" or the right of the crown, hitherto exercised on the advice of the British ministers, to annul an act passed by a Dominion legislature. Formerly this was done frequently, but it has not been exercised as to New Zealand since 1867 nor as to Canada since 1873. It has never been exercised with regard to the legislation of Australia or South Africa, and in the case of the Irish Free State no such power was granted the British crown.

But to make things absolutely clear and final, the committee recommends that the laws passed by the Parliaments of any British Dominion be as free from interference or annulment by Great Britain as are the laws passed by the American Congress.

BLOCK "POCKET VETOES"

The next enormous step was with regard to "reservation" or the withholding of assent by a governor-general to a bill duly passed by the legislature of a Dominion in order that king's pleasure may be taken thereon. The committee points out that the constitutions of some of the Dominions give them the ability so to amend the laws as to abolish this power of reservation and they recommend that this be done if the Dominions so desire. Other Dominions have constitutions which require the co-operation of the British Parliament for such a step. In this case, if these Dominions desire the change, they recommend that the government of the United Kingdom ask the British Parliament to pass the necessary legislation.

The next sweeping change recommended by the committee has to do with the colonial laws validity act passed by the British Parliament in 1865. This act conferred upon Dominion legislatures the power to make laws even though repugnant to English common law, but they could not pass laws repugnant to the provisions of acts passed by the British Parliament. The recommendation now is that the British Parliament enact legislation declaring in terms that the act of 1865 shall no longer apply to the laws passed by any Dominion.

POWERS OF THE KING

These recommendations, if adopted by the Imperial Conference this year, will give each Dominion practically absolute independence in its law-making powers.

But another vast change is also recommended by the committee. The Dominions are united by a common allegiance to the crown. In the past all laws, relating to the succession to the throne and the matter of royal style and titles, have been within the sole purview of the British Parliament. Now the committee recommends that, hereafter, if the British Parliament makes any change in these laws, they shall require the assent of the Parliaments of all the Dominions.

FRAT BREAKS WINDOWS, THERE IS A REASON

Madison.—(P)—When Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity at the University of Wisconsin, throws a party, it means "throw." Witness today: Every window in the fraternity house broken and all the furniture hurled out on the lawn.

But there were extenuating circumstances. The party was the last affair to be held in the house, which is to be razed next week and the site used for a woman's dormitory.

Ireland is discussing prison reform.

Monaco's Prince Gains Support From Voters

Monte Carlo.—(P)—In national and municipal elections held in Monaco yesterday the party of Mayor Marquet won a decisive victory. The vote was 458 for the Marquet list, with the remainder of the 671 ballots cast divided between the opposition Bonaventurists and Aurelians.

The significance of the vote was in the party's support of the resigning prince, Louis, who has been reported about to abdicate in disgust at the quibbling over politics and disapproval of the gambling casino.

DRUM CORPS PREPARES FOR DEMONSTRATIONS

The weekly meeting of the valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps will be held at Armory C at 7:30 Wednesday evening. A short business meeting will precede the weekly rehearsal, according to Cloyd Schroeder, deputy scout commissioner, and corps director. The corps is rehearsing for a series of demonstrations to be given during the coming months.

MANY HOMES BURN

Mexico City.—(P)—Many families lost their homes in a fire yesterday in the village of Mendez, near Tampico, in the state of Vera Cruz. More than 50 houses were burned.

Chief Returns

Fire Chief George P. McGillan returned the latter part of last week from Louisiana where he had spent the last two weeks with a sister.

A brass band will be featured over KDKA between 8 and 9 p. m.

HERRICK MEMORY IS HONORED IN FRANCE

Paris.—(P)—The first memorial service for Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France who died at his post here one year ago today, was held this forenoon at the American Pro Cathedral.

The same prayers were said and the same hymns sung which were Mr. Herrick's favorites in his lifetime—"O Paradise," and the Twenty-Third Psalm, just as at the services a year ago before the French government sent his body home on the cruiser Tourville.

Dr. Frederic W. Beckman, who again conducted the services, recalled that the ambassador was not really gone from France but was "present in his full vigor as we knew him with his almost boyish enthusiasm in life."

The memorial services were attended by many prominent persons of different nationalities in Paris. President Doumergue, Foreign Minister Briand, Marshal Petain and Marshal Joffre sent representatives.

In the absence of Ambassador Edge in Marseilles on a long-planned industrial tour, Norman Armour represented the American embassy. All the members of the embassy and consulate were present.

STATE HEALTH DAY IS SCHEDULED ON MAY 1

Madison.—(P)—The annual Wisconsin child health day will be observed May 1 in accordance with the national plans. Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, announced today. He named Dr. Charlotte J. Calvert, director of the bureau of child welfare, as state chairman.

Dr. Calvert, in outlining plans for the observance, said it is aimed to have every county organized under a chairman to set school, welfare and civic forces in motion for a wide observance.

"Parent cooperation in community child health and protection," is this year's keynote, the board of health says. Stress is to be placed on periodic examinations of children. Dr. Calvert explains and urged public health nursing in communities lacking them.

David Brettschneider submitted to a major surgical operation at St. Elizabeth hospital Saturday morning. His condition is favorable, according to attending physicians.

George Warner, Madison, chief inspector of weights and measures, and Harry Klueter, also of Madison, chief chemist, were in Appleton on a tour of inspection. While here they conferred with Joseph Hodgins, city scaler of weights and measures.

SCOUT LEADERS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Another meeting of the Valley Council Scout Leaders' Training conference will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening in the council offices on E. College-ave. It is expected 20 to 25 scout leaders will be present. M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, and Herb Hellig, director of Appleton vocational school will conduct the conference.

ON INSPECTION TOUR

George Warner, Madison, chief inspector of weights and measures, and Harry Klueter, also of Madison, chief chemist, were in Appleton on a tour of inspection. While here they conferred with Joseph Hodgins, city scaler of weights and measures.

THE POST-CRESCENT IS NOT AN ISSUE

One might think from the accusations and charges hurled at this newspaper that the Post-Crescent is an issue in this campaign. It is not. You might even get the impression that you are being asked to vote on whether or not you like the Post-Crescent. You are not.

The Post-Crescent has taken all these punches on the nose, standing up and with a smile, knowing well that these denunciations are the same old, be-whiskered bunk and blatherskite used by politicians and special interests against newspapers that do things since time immemorial.

The Post-Crescent could have avoided all this by keeping quiet or doing the bidding of the favored interests in this campaign, but the Post-Crescent is not that kind of a newspaper.

The Post-Crescent is an Appleton institution vitally interested in the progress of Appleton and the welfare of its citizens, and when it sees an opportunity to work for the betterment of the community and for the welfare of its citizens and taxpayers it will be found supporting that movement vigorously and fearlessly. The Post-Crescent believes that the support of City Manager government offered such an opportunity.

ANTI-PEACE BARRAGE

Already the barrage against the United States entering a security pact has commenced. Senators are shooting off their mouths before they know what form the agreement will take. No security pact has been offered to France by the American delegation and none will be. The situation in this respect has not changed. The most that has been suggested is that, France, having obtained a treaty of assistance or security elsewhere, we will consider with an "open mind" a plan for international conference in case of threatened war among or against the signatories.

How any person who is anxious to promote world peace can object to this is more than we are able to understand. It is certain that consultation would take place in any event under the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war. In addition it is morally certain that protest would be made by the United States against a violation of the treaty. What measures may be undertaken to uphold the Kellogg-Briand treaty and to enforce its obligations are for the future to work out, but the parties to this solemn pledge, and they include practically all nations, are bound to take some action under it or compromise their good faith and integrity. Either it is a bona fide contract or it is a scrap of paper.

When the nations first commenced to talk about ways and means of attaining world peace, American leaders of both parties were practically a unit for some kind of association of nations that would enforce it even at the point of the gun, by the joint use of their navies. Roosevelt was for such a scheme, so was Lodge, Root, Hughes, and other Republican high-lights of twenty and thirty years ago. Now that the world has progressed so far as to write Locarno treaties, Kellogg-Briand pacts and the sort, and is actually assembled in international conference to reduce armament, our politicians raise the roof off the house at the mere suggestion of a consultative pact, which cannot commit the government to anything, least of all the use of its military forces. We do not see how a national policy which conforms to this objection is consistent, constructive or wise. We cannot see that it contains anything of statesmanship. We think it represents on the contrary cheap politics and a low conception of the international problems of the day.

The United States must surely wish sustained peace. If there is another great war it is as likely to be drawn into it as it was in 1914. It must desire to avoid such a possibility. It ought to be willing to do something, in conjunction with other nations, to prevent it. It ought to be willing to assume some obligations to reach this end, particularly when a method is offered which not only strengthens the cause of peace and saves the people hundreds of millions of dollars in military expenditures. The least it can do, it seems to us, is to agree to "consult" with the other powers in the event of war or threatened war. The Kellogg-Briand treaty alone is a challenge, a duty to do this. The world will never get anywhere in the move to abolish war if the general disposition is to "let the other fellow do it," and shirk responsibilities.

NOT ALL IS UGLINESS

A faithful reader of the daily newspaper may be pardoned if he develops a certain amount of cynicism regarding the human race. The daily account of human beings' crimes, follies and weaknesses that the newspaper provides is surely enough to make anyone wonder if mankind isn't after all a good deal farther down in the scale than we like to suppose. But there are other things in the newspapers to counteract all of this. They aren't as prominently displayed, chiefly because they aren't as unusual and hence aren't as startling and interest-provoking; but they're there and they give you quite a different picture.

From Mansfield, O., comes a story telling how a Pennsylvania railroad engineer sacrificed his own life to save the lives of his passengers when his engine jumped the tracks, staying in the cab, when he might have escaped by jumping, in order to set the air-brakes and keep the whole train from being wrecked. From the east comes a story telling how a negro clerk in a railway mail car, injured in a wreck, refused to go to a hospital but stuck by the mail pouches that had been entrusted to his care and saw to it that they were safely disposed of. From Chicago comes a story telling how a girl arrested there for vagrancy found kind-hearted officials in the police court and was enabled to complete her journey to her mother in Indiana when they took up a collection to furnish her with food, clothing and a railroad ticket.

None of these stories took up much space. None of them got very big headlines. If you skimmed through your paper hurriedly you may have missed them altogether. But they are important stories, just the same. They stand out, behind the ugly stories about gangsters, divorces, bootleggers, murders and crooked politicians, like beacon lights. If the crime stories tell us that the race has unsuspected depths in its make-ups, these stories make it plain that human beings can also rise to noble heights of devotion, courage and unselfishness. It is the old, old story over again. There is a great deal of wickedness in the world—and a great deal of good to balance it. And it is worth while to remember that every kind, brave or unselfish act, no matter how small or insignificant, adds just so much more weight to the right side of the scales.

There are approximately $1,000,000 telephone conversations per day in the United States. In other words, each phone is used about three times a day.

It was Jacques of Lyons, France, who invented the loom. His neighbors mobbed him because they feared it would throw them out of jobs.

It is believed impossible to find a man over 10 years old who has perfect eyesight.

The Post-Mortem

THERE is either too much, far too much, or else too little to talk about just now with Appleton firm in the grip of a raging political torrent. We haven't the room or the inclination in Post-Mortem to tear our political hair, scream our political views or otherwise make an ass out of ourselves. At a time like this we grow to respect the views of H. L. Mencken on humanity a great deal more. A campaign like this one can pretty well show up the smallness and the bigness of this city. It can bring out into the open the personal and petty selfishness of a lot of people. We limit that thought to no one faction.

It's a typical part of the American Scene. It shows the crying need for a consistent sense of humor. For, even if you don't see it that way now, it's funny . . . tragically funny to an outsider with a sincere point of view.

The Kitchen Cynic agreed with us for a change. He was last heard muttering something about the fact that thinking is the hardest job in the world and insisting that he was going to move to Little Chute.

LAST INSTALLMENT OF THE MINUTES OF THE FIRST MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE TO ABOLISH MONDAY MORNING

(The first installment, you may remember, left Harold the Seer interrupted in the middle of his epochal speech. Now go on with the story.)

The bell tolled midnight and a solemn hush fell upon the assemblage while someone or other offered a silent prayer to somebody or other in honor of something or other.

After a short period of silence, Harold the Seer resumed his speech. Cries of "Hear, Hear!" greeted his well-put phrases in which he so eloquently outlined the policies of the Association in favor of the Abolishment of Monday Mornings. Cheers of approval and approbation awakened echoes in the belfry as he completed his address as above outlined.

(Editor's note: Where?)

Then Ramblin' Red made a motion to give a rising vote of thanks to Harold the Seer for his splendid efforts and everyone arose except Horstense who had fallen asleep. She woke up soon enough when I took a swat at her with a fly swatter brought along for that especial purpose.

She demanded to know what it was all about and Dee Jay Cee left the meeting in disgust. However, Harold the Seer led the group in a song and the meeting closed in harmony.

(Editor's note: People who heard you report otherwise.)

Harold the Seer expects to call another meeting soon.

To the contributors whose material arrived on Saturday, our thanks. We'll get at it as soon as the hubbaloob has subsided.

TREATY WITH JAPAN
On March 31, 1854, Commodore Matthew Perry concluded a treaty with the Japanese by which they agreed to receive an American consul at one of their ports. This act opened up Japan to the commerce of the world.

Before this time Japan refused to trade with any foreign nation and even showed hostility to American whalers who sought refuge in Japanese ports. In an effort to promote the safety of American citizens, President Polk sent an expedition under Commodore Biddle to determine whether the ports of Japan were accessible. After 10 days of negotiations with the Nippon government, Biddle received a note advising him to depart immediately and to consult his own safety "by not appearing again on our coast."

At the news of Biddle's failure to come to terms, Perry proposed that if the United States equipped an expedition for him he would lead it to Japan. The offer was accepted and Perry sailed for the Orient with extraordinary naval and diplomatic powers. When his formidable fleet arrived in the Bay of Japan, the Japanese became panicky. Perry had little difficulty then in inducing Japan to enter into relations with other nations.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Monday, April 3, 1905

Two new features began in the Post that day. One was the "Kickers Column," in which contrary readers were to be appear, and the other was the first of a series of articles on people who had gone from Appleton and had attained fame in the world.

The east wind the preceding day drove the ice into the shore in the vicinity of Brighton beach, causing considerable damage to trees.

Mrs. E. D. Wright was visiting her parents at Waupun.

Mrs. A. E. Welsenborn returned home from Washington the night before.

Edward Mumm had joined Maeder's orchestra. Miss Millie Wambold returned the day before to DePere to resume her work as teacher in the public school, after spending the spring vacation with her parents in Appleton.

Miss Charlotte Wood, who had been spending the spring vacation at her home in Appleton, returned that morning to Sturgeon Bay where she was to resume her work as teacher in the public school.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Zuehlke, the Misses Ciarn and Della Schultz, and Miss Lucia Linpert, visited at Hortonville the day before.

TEN YEARS AGO
Monday, March 29, 1920

Tornadoes which swept eight states the preceding Sunday claimed a toll of approximately 125 lives, destroyed millions of dollars worth of property, and left hundreds of families homeless.

Miss Julia Eschner was a visitor at Clintonville the preceding Sunday.

Miss Marie Rechner was visiting friends at Milwaukee.

Mrs. William Diderich and Miss Roselle Elsie visited at Okosh over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hogan were to leave the next day for Milwaukee where Mr. Hogan was to enter the Milwaukee school of engineering.

The engagement of Miss Gladys Schaeffer, Milwaukee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Roll, 988 Superior-st., to Albert J. Penner, Milwaukee, had been announced.

Mrs. Walter Melzer, Clark-st., entertained at a 5 o'clock dinner at her home the night before in honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband.

Mrs. Chris Fetting was visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Stecker, Neenah, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Martin spent the preceding Sunday at Green Bay.

HYGIENE FOR PEPTIC ULCER

Peptic ulcer (otherwise known as stomach or gastric ulcer and, if situated a few inches further along the alimentary tube, duodenal ulcer) is too common, much too common, and that's why I am waiving all ordinary restrictions and talking freely about it here. Our healthy readers—and they're the readers—we strive to please—know that this column contains little consolation or encouragement for the morbidly inclined who are collecting symptoms or looking for something to worry about. But peptic ulcer really seems to be on the increase in this wisecracking yet physiologically ignorant country and hence I am offering some inside information about it, the effect of which, I hope and believe, will be rather healthful for both the sick and the well.

Peptic ulcer is what ails one out of every 10 patients who complain of persistent or recurring "indigestion." Put that in your scrapbook and try it on your next bellyache.

Only 10 or 20 years ago our everyday operators were blithely "short-circuiting" the alimentary canal in cases of peptic ulcer—they called the operation gastro-enterostomy, which means cutting a new communication from the stomach (above the seat of ulcer) to the intestine (below the seat of ulcer). This half-baked procedure is today almost forgotten—but by no means forgiven; it is now resorted to only in case of dire necessity whereas 15 years ago our brilliant surgeons were vying with each other in trying the little stunt on almost every victim who had the temerity to complain of stomach trouble. I am not overstating the matter. It is an ugly blot on the escutcheon of American surgery.

There is some personal hygiene for patients with peptic ulcer; for those with healed ulcer, and even for those who may be training for peptic ulcer.

1. Practice thorough mastication, and see that your teeth are in condition to do their work well.
2. Avoid the use of spices, condiments, hot sauces.
3. Easy on the new bread, hot biscuits, corn bread, pastry, cakes, syrups, ice cream, candies. I said easy. That doesn't mean you can't have any joy in life.
4. If any doubt, better omit green corn, strawberries, other berries, fruits with skins, old asparagus and other vegetables with woody fibre.
5. Alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee are absolutely prohibited in the diet of the peptic ulcer patient; anything more than temperate indulgence in them is dangerous for the patient with healed ulcer.
6. The diet should contain an adequate amount of vitamins B and C in any case. (Such a diet will be described in another article.)
7. If you have peptic ulcer or contemplate having one, you had better invest in a thorough medical examination to bring to light any hidden focus of infection, for infection is the exciting cause of ulcer.
8. Better five small meals than three large ones a day.
9. Avoid taking alkalis to relieve "acidity," unless such medicine is prescribed by your doctor.
10. Emotions such as worry, fear, anger, grief aggravate the trouble or cause hyperacidity.

MOST EFFICIENT FORM

Editor Post-Crescent:—Tomorrow the voters of Appleton will go to the polls to decide whether they wish to retain the present form of aldermanic government or decide to make a change in favor of the manager form.

Much has been said in this campaign for and against both forms. Unfortunately those who are in charge of the organization opposed to the manager form have resorted to such silly, vicious and Billingsgate tactics that the voter cannot see any intelligent argument in their actions. As a staunch adherent and ardent admirer of the Aldermanic form of government in the past I take the opportunity of expressing my humble opinion on this momentous question.

We the voters know that the Aldermanic form is, we know that it is lacking in efficiency, we know that economy is not one of its virtues, and we also know that its business methods have been and are crude and unwieldy.

For instance—the current debt of our city on the last day of last December was $242,000. Our tax rate is $35.00 per thousand, one of the highest in the state.

It cost $806,307.25 to run the city last year; it cost about $200,000 for operation of the street department—lighting, street cleaning, oiling, repairs and maintenance.

It cost more by far to operate this department than that of many other cities of the same size. Those and other extravagant expenses in our city's administration simply go to show that there is something radically wrong with this antiquated form of city government and I believe that a change to the manager form would be to the benefit of every resident of Appleton. We have been thoroughly informed by speakers from cities who have this latter form; we have been given all the information possible as to how it functions, and there certainly cannot be any question in the mind of any thinking intelligent person that the "Manager form" is more efficient, more economic and more businesslike than our Aldermanic system. Think it over as I have.

John M. Waites.

call on the head when in the Milwaukee Sentinel for Feb. 17th she calls this class of women "A menace to Society, a selfish, Short-sighted Creature who ought to be ashamed of herself."

About a year ago a message in the Peoples Forum of the Appleton Post-Crescent called attention to the many married women (wives of men working or in business) who were employed at the Court House, Stores, Factories and Vocational School, forcing our young people to leave Appleton. As these same married women are still on their jobs we know that the employers of Appleton are not interested in the future of our young people, the welfare of the widow and her fatherless children or the man who is trying to be a man and support his wife and rear and educate children. Many families too proud to ask for poor aid are lacking the necessities of life while the working husband and his working wife are enjoying the luxuries of life, they see all the movies, enjoy the club and its many banquets, cars, radios, etc.

The Milwaukee papers tell us that there are men in Milwaukee who have a sense of honor, fairness and justice left. That these men are doing all in their power to do away with this married woman menace.

The Board of Supervisors of Milwaukee has taken action in this matter. They have not been able to accomplish all that many of their members wish to accomplish; they have already opened the eyes of many employers, who have discharged all the married women working in their places of business or factory, who have husbands that are working. Will our Appleton employers thus open jobs for our unemployed?

As we are again nearing the close of the school year we will in a few months have another group of young people looking for work. What about them?

It might be well for the voters of Outagamie County to vote for only such men, at the April election, who are human enough to give the young people, the widow and the family man a chance.

Voter, Taxpayer and Parent.

FOR REFERENCE

Editor Post-Crescent: In the Saturday evening, March 29th issue of the Post-Crescent the new candidates for school commissioner were asked to answer, through the People's Forum the following question:

"Will these new candidates, through this column state whether or not they are in favor of purchasing the golf grounds?"

I am pleased to assure the questioners that I, Ward Taxpayer, that his reference to the vote of the Taxpayers last spring, in which they decided 5 to 1 against such purchase has closed this issue, and I so regard it.

As a taxpayer, I was glad that the school board referred this question to the taxpayers for decision, and are without question abiding by it. If elected as one of the three commissioners to be chosen, I will also choose to refer major issues back to the taxpayers.

I trust that this answers above question fully.

Yours very truly,

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

Editor Post-Crescent: Three new members are to be elected to the school board on Tuesday. Little has been said concerning this important part of the election.

All parts of the city are equally concerned in the selection of these members. The building of a new high school has been considered. All parts of the city are equally concerned in the location and kind of school.

Why should we not select members for the education who have the interests of all sections of the city in mind? We can do this on Tuesday by voting for those who will give us a representative board of education.

HEISS ORATORICAL CONTEST SET FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 10

Five Students Selected to Take Part in This Year's Meet

In memory of William B. Heiss, Appletton high school class of 1918 is sponsoring on April 10 the William B. Heiss Memorial Oratorical contest. This will be the ninth of these contests which are annual events at the school.

William Heiss was graduated from high school in 1918. That summer he went with Company G of the National Guard on Mexican border service. He returned in March, 1917 and when war was declared he went across with the Rainbow division. He was killed in the service in July, 1918.

Following the war the class of 1918 held a reunion in order to do something to perpetuate his memory. As he had always been interested in debating and public speaking the William B. Heiss Memorial contests were established. The date of the contest each year is set as near the date of his birthday on March 23 as possible.

Heiss was a prominent member of his class. He was a member of the football team, president of his class during his junior year, a member of the debate team for three years and a valedictorian of his class.

According to his fellow class members, Heiss was most popular and always well liked. He was a "real student, a good sport and a fine fellow."

In 1921 when the first contest was held, the purpose of it was announced by the sponsors was "to perpetuate the memory of William Heiss by promoting through an oratorical contest a deeper, keener interest in the world and national topics which he ever held so highly and of which he always proved such an able exponent, and thus to express a fond, sincere and loving appreciation for his great service to his country."

The five students who will take part in this year's contest are Clifford Burr, Fred Marshall, Karl Ek, Charles Wisteen and Robert Mortimer. Thirteen boys signed up for the preliminary tryouts which were judged by Miss Agnes Huberty, coach of oratory at the high school, Miss Ruth McKennan, coach of dramatics and Herbert Heibie, school principal.

The winner of the contest will be held on April 10 will go to the valedictory contest at Marinette on April 24. A silver loving cup will be given the winner of the Heiss contest.

Those who won first places in the former contests were: 1921, Ralph Mullenix; 1922, Harry Hoefel; 1924, Maurice Lewis; 1925, Herman Brockhaus; 1926, Edward Blessman; 1927, William Meyer; 1928, Aloysius Gage; 1929, Merlin Pitt.

WEIGHTS ON FREEDOM ROADS ARE LIMITED

The board of the town of Freedom last week adopted an ordinance limiting the loads which may pass over its roads to 6,000 pounds, according to Jacob DeJong, town clerk. The ordinance is to be in effect until May 15 and all violators are to be arrested and taken to court. Any damage caused to highways by operators of trucks carrying loads over 6,000 pounds will be liable for any damage done to the roads. The 6,000-pound limit includes both the load and the truck.

APPLETON YACHT CLUB TO PLAN FOR SUMMER

Plans for an elaborate program of activities during the next few months will be discussed at the monthly meeting of the Appleton Yacht club in the club rooms next Thursday evening. One of the largest fleets ever owned by club members will navigate the Fox river and Lake Winnebago next summer, it was predicted. Excursions, boat races, and other events are included in the plans.

Vocational Instructor Is Designer Of Pewter

Designing of pewter, one of the oldest crafts known and one which present generations know very little about, is a pastime of an Appletton man, W. Ray Challoner, an instructor at Appletton vocational school.

During spare moments when he is not teaching young Americans the intricacies of machine shop work at the vocational school Challoner has found time to make a study of the almost extinct art and to design and make many articles. Some of his handiwork recently was shown in the window of a downtown jewelry store.

The articles are made from what is called britannia metal, an alloy similar to pewter of many centuries ago, but contained much lead, the present day alloy, britannia metal—containing none at all and being a composition of tin, antimony and copper.

Most of the articles made by Mr. Challoner were "spun" as the practice is called: The metal is drawn over a wool form with a lathe and spun into the shape desired. The articles as the candle stick, which is made of several pieces soldered together, the bud vase, nut cups and bowls all were spun. The plates and trays were hammered out of the metal, still another way of making articles from pewter.

USE IS ANCIENT

The use of pewter goes back to the time of the Romans. Supplanting the wooden ware, it was used extensively for such household utensils as spoons, plates, containers, salt cellars and trays, particularly in countries and epochs marked by scarcity of food or pottery.

In England during the 14th century the stationary or permanently located pewterers established a well-organized guild or association with the aim partly to prohibit dishonest products and partly to protect the industry by eliminating those outside of the guild. At this time pewter was the material universally used by the middle and upper classes for the table and sideboard; silver plate appearing only on the tables of the highest nobles and in royal palaces.

With the Pewterers' Guild of England in full and legal control of the material and quality of product, the finest type of work was produced. Repeated offenses of bad craftsmanship and the production of poor quality of alloy on the part of a member of the company were punished by forfeiture of the wares, and denial of the privilege of manufacture. In addition heavy fines were imposed. This meant the loss of membership in the company, which deprived the workman of his livelihood since by this loss he could neither sell nor be employed.

But with power comes the desire for more power. So it was with the guild, and regulations were passed tightening the monopoly. Trade secrets were guarded so closely that no English pewterer could leave his country, no work was conducted in public, exportation of pewter was stopped, a monopoly of the tin mining trade was attempted, and the right to search for nonguild articles was pushed with vigor.

MONOPOLY CHECKED

Inventions and human discord checked this tight monopoly, which was in a way unfortunate, in that the combine introduction of cheap earthenware and china for table and domestic uses, the products of the Memory Verse: "Work out your own salvation" (Philippians 2:12)

Read: Philippians 2:12-18

MEDITATION

Work it out! Brooding over trouble is the surest way to hate; a new brood of trouble, or to increase the size of the existing brood. We can rear troubles as we can rear children and chickens. Attention enough will make bugaboos out of least troubles. Trouble will die of neglect and inattention. Courage to keep at helpful tasks will help one to gain the mastery of trouble and to prevent it from building a nest in one's mind. Work is one of God's handmaids.

PRAYER

O Thou who dost lift up the heavy hearts of men, keep us from vain and wasteful brooding over our troubles and losses. May we hear Thy bidding of good cheer and have the grace to keep our hearts at peace amid all the labors and conflicts of our lives. Amen.

THE PROMISES	THE FACTS
1. I would reduce expenditures for special counsel in city matters.	1. You couldn't do anything about it. The city attorney has no authority in the matter. By statute, the common council has exclusive authority to employ special counsel and fix their compensation.
2. I would have the car tracks on N. Oneida St. removed.	2. You would do this when, as and if the council directed you to—no sooner, because the council decides when lawsuits shall be commenced. It might interest you to know that the tracks are to be removed when the street is re-surfaced this Spring, thus avoiding closing of the street unnecessarily.
3. While I have had no experience in the office, I would soon familiarize myself with its duties.	3. I have had six years of intensive experience and am equipped to give expert service immediately.
4. I would have approved the city manager petitions.	4. Possibly you would have disregarded the law as defined by the courts. My duty was to give the clerk the law and I performed my duty.
5. I would not represent the "Power Company".	5. Neither do I. Mr. Benton individually represents this company. I have no connection whatever with it. Your firm represents a local public utility and many other large corporations.

Moose Draw Up Plans For Convention

OFFICERS of the Wisconsin State Moose association met with the executive committee of the Oshkosh Moose lodge Sunday afternoon and drew up plans for the state Moose convention which will be held in Oshkosh. All districts of Wisconsin were represented. The dates were set at this time, the convention to be held June 4, 5, 6, and 7.

The program will open on June 4 with initiation of the convention class in the evening. A business session will be held June 5, and each evening during the convention entertainment will be provided in the form of dancing and programs. The parade will take place the morning of June 7 and that evening the alumnae banquet will be served at 6 o'clock. Arrangements for the banquet are not yet complete, as to which hotel will be used.

Invitations have been issued to members of the supreme lodge, among them George Varde, general dictator; Marcolin Giles, supreme secretary; Paul Schmitz, deputy supreme secretary; Thomas Howell, supervisor of degrees. The superintendent of education at Mooseheart, Ill., will be present and will give a talk on the student life of the children in the schools at Mooseheart. Mrs. Emma Hanke, grand regent of Women of Mooseheart Legion will have charge of the sessions for the women. Another meeting will be held at Oshkosh in a few weeks to complete the arrangements. Earl Bates is state president of the association and E. E. Cahall is secretary.

MOOSE LEGION PLANS FROLIC NEXT SUNDAY

The Fox River Valley Moose Legion will hold a frolic next Sunday at Fond du Lac, the program to begin at 1:30 with initiation of a large class of candidates. Several members of the class will be from Appleton. A banquet will be served at 6 o'clock by the Fond du Lac chapter of Women of Mooseheart Legion. Entertainment will be provided during the evening.

The second degree, which puts on these frolics about every two months, founded a home for the aged at Moosehaven, Fla., and keeps it up partly through the proceeds from the frolics.

CLUB MEETINGS

Mr. and Mrs. George Van Beynen, Fond du Lac, entertained the members of the Wisconsin club Saturday night at their home. Three tables of cards were in play, prizes being awarded to Mrs. John W. Hoffman, John Mulder, and Ed Arndt. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Arndt, Fair-st.

Women of Mooseheart Tuesday afternoon club will meet at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at Moose Temple. Cards will be played.

The Dramatic club will meet at 7:30 Tuesday night at the Women's club. Plans for the group will be discussed and rehearsal on plays will be held.

Mrs. O. R. Dusch, 514 E. Brewster-st., will be hostess to the General Review club at 7:30 Tuesday night at her home. Mrs. D. N. Carlson will have charge of the program.

A meeting of Delta Gamma alumnae association will be held at 7:30 Tuesday night at the home of Miss Annette Buchanan, 716 E. College-ave. This will be a business and social meeting.

New officers will be elected at the meeting of the I B club at the Methodist church Tuesday evening. There also will be a reception of new members, a short program, and special business. The club members will have a table at the Missionary tea.

CARD PARTIES

About 65 people attended the card party and fair Sunday night at Zion Lutheran school. Schafkopf prizes were awarded to Miss Magdalena Kohl. Mrs. William Wochter, Charles Kobs, and Ed Welmann. Refreshments were served. The proceeds will be used to help the graduates pay their expenses on their trip to Washington, D. C.

Appleton Maentervier held a card party Sunday night at Gil Myse hall. Nine tables were in play. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. J. Schreiter, Mrs. M. Fitzgerald and Mrs. William Brandes, and at skat by Theodore Thomas and Herman Schafhauser. There will be another party next Sunday night.

PARTIES

Thirty friends and relatives surprised Miss Helen Menning, Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Menning, route 1. Dinner was served to the guests. Miss Menning will leave Tuesday for Lindbloom, Tex., where she expects a position in an art studio. While there she will make her home with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Jeffreys.

Miss June Krause 528 N. Division-st., entertained 14 girls at her home Saturday afternoon and evening in honor of her eleventh birthday anniversary. Games were played and prizes were won by the Misses Florence Schledermeyer, Margaret Kamps, Helen Rasmussen, and Lucille Weber.

Flattering Jacket Costume

Enhance your charm by wearing flattering jacket costumes.

It is a fashion of jackets. The one sketched is in green crepe silk print in combination with egg-shell.

The skirt shows slenderizing line in pointed hip yoke treatment. The jacket is in popular hip length. Style No. 3436 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 26, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Flat silk crepe, wool crepe, crepe marocain and light weight twill lend themselves charmingly to this model.

It is stunning with the dress made of chiffon print in hyacinth blue coloring with the jacket of flat silk crepe in matching shade.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern desired. Eastern Department, Our Spring Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but you may order a pattern and a Fashion Magazine together for 25 cents.

Brownie Pack Almost Ready For Enrollment

THE Brownie Pack is almost ready to be enrolled as Brownies at national headquarters. It was announced recently by Miss Marjorie Kramholz, recreational director at the Women's club, who is sponsoring the Pack in Appleton. The girls met Saturday morning at the playhouse and continued work on the tests. Two new members, Eleanor Krueger and Ruth Potter, were taken into the pack at this time. The membership is steadily growing with new members being admitted weekly. About 20 girls were present at the meeting Saturday.

A hike entertained members of the Silver Fox patrol, Girl Scout Troop No. 8, Saturday afternoon. The route was around the outskirts of the city and the procedure followed was similar to that of a treasure hunt, three scouts leading and the others following by the aid of notes left in various places. The hike ended at the home of Mrs. Harold Podzinski, E. Pacific-st., where cocoa and sandwiches were served.

The weekly "cozy" was held Sunday afternoon at the club house in the form of a costume party, the girls coming dressed in costumes of various periods. The committee in charge included Mary Spreeman, Grace O'Leary, and Irene Dursley. Plans were made for a taffy pull to be held at the usual time. All girls of the city are invited to attend.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Rules That We Can Use, was the topic for discussion at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of First Reformed church Sunday evening at the church, at which Miss Ruth M. Meyer was the leader. The presentation of the topic was followed by general discussion. By all. Twenty-two members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church at Kimberly were guests of the Appleton group at a 5:30 supper and social hour. Miss Dorothy Brandt presented a vocal selection, "I Would Be True," and Norbert Franz gave a French horn solo. The committee in charge of the supper included Miss Tillie Jahn, Miss Dorothy Brandt and Miss Lorraine Franz.

Miss Augusta Bethke was the leader at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of Emmanuel Evangelical church. Sunday night at the church. A Sunday in China was the topic given by Miss Gladys Albrecht, and Miss Florence Schmidt spoke on What the U. S. C. E. is Doing for Missions. This Rosetta Bell played the prelude and a piano solo, "March Militaire," was presented by Miss Lois Nienstedt. Thirty-five members were present. The meeting next Sunday will be under the direction of Norman Schmeichel's committee.

The League will hold a business session April 8, at the church.

A general meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Memorial Presbyterian church will be held at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mabel Shannon, John-st. The personnel for the circles for next year will be announced at this time.

About 15 members of Baptist Young People's Union went to Neenah Sunday night to attend a play given by the Neenah Union. The play was entitled "Missionary Arithmetic."

The annual meeting of the young people will be held at 6:30 Friday night at the church. Election of officers will be held at this time. Supper will be served under the direction of the devotional commission with Evelyn Stallman in charge.

The Bible class of St. Matthew church will meet at 7:15 Tuesday night at the church. The fund-raiser will hold a business session after the class. Sunday school teachers will hold a monthly meeting and supper at 6 o'clock at the church.

Activities for the first part of May will be planned at a meeting of the Methodist church at the Appleton Social Union at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Otto Zuehlke's group will be the hostesses.

Does Science Make Prayer Less Effective was discussed by the High School Epworth society of the Methodist church under the leadership of Stanley Zahrt at the weekly meeting at the church Sunday evening. A supper was followed by a musical program provided by Lawrence Osterhaus, Stanley Zahrt, and Betty Meyer.

The Work of the Missions especially in foreign countries was the topic at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday night at the church. Miss Meredith Dandy was the leader.

A social meeting will entertain the Zion Lutheran Brotherhood of Zion Lutheran church Tuesday evening at the parish school hall. The meeting will begin at 7:15.

Mrs. J. B. MacFarland, 226 N. Morrison-st., will be hostess to St. Martha Guild of All Saints Episcopal church at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at her home. Routine business will be transacted after which a social hour will be held.

Circle No. 4 of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. L. Kohl, 713 S. Milwaukee-st., at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Edward Fraser is captain and Mrs. T. S. Davis will be the assistant hostess.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE little bird chirped merrily. It seemed as happy as could be. Vee Cloway stood and held it on the palm of his small hand. "Look at its legs. They're tiny things. They wiggle when he loud-ly sings," said Coggie. "Why, you'll think that they would break off when he stands."

The bird store man was very kind, because he didn't seem to mind just talking to the Tynmites about his wondrous birds. He told them things they never knew and let them pet some nice birds, too. The Tynmites were so thrilled they stood and listened to his words.

The Travel Man said, pretty soon, "Well, lads, the clock says it is noon. What say we get a bite to eat? I'm hungry as can be. A nice big steak would taste just right. I soon could put one out of sight, if you are also hungry, come along and follow me."

They made the nice bird man farewell. The last thing that he heard them yell was, "We'll come back again some day. You're so very kind." "All right," he shouted back real quick. "I'll have a parrot do a trick. I have the smartest parrot that 'twas possible to find."

The whole bunch heard a little way and then they heard Vee Cloway say, "Oh, look! There is an artist and he's drawing pictures, too."

The Travel Man replied, "He's good! I'll bet you Tynmites wish you could draw things like he does. Maybe he will sketch each of you."

And so they asked the artist and he said, "Why, sure! That will be grand. He took me down by the hand and said, 'Stand still. Don't talk. I'll make a picture of you now. Say! Get those frowns off your brow.' And then he made a sketch of little Cloway, on the walk."

(The Tynmites plan to leave London and go to Paris in the next story.)

EXPLAINS REPORT OF STATE TAX COMMISSION

Madison—(P)—Erroneous impressions created by data compiled recently by the state tax commission today caused Edward L. Kelley, chairman, to issue an explanatory statement of county contributions to the state and state aid to counties.

Mr. Kelley said that the details of Table 1 of the report showing county contributions and Table 2 showing the state aids received by counties were overlooked by many commentators who arrived at misleading conclusions.

The commission chairman said that Table 1 did not set forth all of the tax contributions made by counties because it listed in its column the taxes paid directly by companies and therefore their county origin could not be determined.

"Table 1 shows a total county contribution of $23,769,162 and state aids returned to counties of $18,195,121," Mr. Kelley said. "Thus, $5,574,041 of the taxes shown in Table 1 were not distributed as state aids, which fact should be considered in determining to what extent if at all, a county is a contributing county or a recipient county."

Chairman Kelley said his comments were advanced "only to indicate that figures alone do not adequately represent the respective burdens of benefits of the counties of the state."

FIND YOUNGER WORKERS IN MORE ACCIDENTS

Madison—(P)—Older workers have fewer accidents than young workers in Wisconsin statistics compiled by the Wisconsin Industrial commission show.

Between the ages of 25 and 41, death cases were 90.6 per cent of a total of 197.2 workers between 45 and 61 years of age contributed only 61.7 per cent of the total. Permanent disability cases showed $25.5 for the young group and $22.9 for the older group.

CORINNE can take care of herself," Sue answered. Harry Becker's assertion that he wanted to keep an eye on his cousin, and Corinne. "She's very capable."

Harry's surmise had been correct. Corinne and Clifford were seated at a table at the far end of the room and smiled gaily as they came in. Harry chose a table for four across the room and a few minutes later Jack and Barbara joined them.

"Oh, Sue, how perfectly stunning!" Barbara caught her hand and the pansy eyes devoured the emerald ring hungrily. "It's beautiful! I never saw such a lovely, lovely thing! Oh, would you mind letting me try it on?"

"Of course not," Sue started to slip it off, then her eyes suddenly rested on the third finger of Barbara's left hand where a small diamond solitaire, encased in platinum, too, rested. It had not been there at dinner. Barbara remembered it at the same time.

"Oh, you haven't seen my ring, have you?" she asked. "I just got it tonight. Isn't it darling?" She sighed and her eyes coveted the emerald again. "But it can't compare with yours, of course. Do you want to try mine on, Sue?" She proffered her simple ring and slipped Sue's on her finger.

Sue was looking at Jack's face instead of the ring. There was a stubborn set to his chin and his eyes were narrowed and steady.

"I think I'd rather have an emerald, Jack. Do you mind much?" Barbara asked.

"Hum-um. I mind several thousands of dollars, sweet child," Jack answered in a careless, teasing tone that was strangely out of keeping with the look in his eyes. "You're marrying a struggling young lawyer, young lady."

"The stone is lovely," Sue said enthusiastically. "And the mounting is exquisite. What more could you want, Barbara?"

"Thanks, Sue, I'm glad you admire my wonderful taste," Jack told her and his eyes acknowledged her understanding. "I think you should appreciate a tin band if it were the best, a fellow could do, wouldn't you?"

"Of course, if..." Sue caught her breath. She had started to say, "If you gave it to me."

"By the way," Jack turned the subject, "Isn't Corinne wearing the glad rags that Nancy chose for you?"

"She is," Sue had not noticed before. "And she looks stunning. Harry at I don't set an early wedding date, my infant sister is going to put me out of running with all the swains in town."

"She's a knockout," Jack said. "Clifford is gone already," Harry agreed. He talked on, but Sue wasn't listening. She was watching Barbara as she turned her hand around and around to display the jewels.

Jack's simple ring still lay in her palm. She couldn't help slip it on, as Barbara had suggested. She felt that it would burn into her finger if she did. Barbara suddenly made a suggestion.

Interesting Menus

BY SISTER MARY

NEA Service Writer

Young housekeepers as well as experienced ones often are puzzled by the problem of having all the foods cooked and ready at the same time when preparing a meal. That it requires good management and planning by even the most practiced must be admitted.

One way to meet this question is to choose frequently those dishes that need not be served the minute they leave the stove. Casserole dishes come under this class and are both economical and appealing.

When the meal must wait or if one dish must wait for another, the casserole concoction will not spoil by the delay.

Odds and ends left over in the refrigerator may be made into appetizing combinations in the casserole. Carrots, peas and rice or corn and tomatoes are examples of vegetable combinations. Lamb and rice with caper sauce, or fish potatoes, carrots and celery are suggestions for meat combinations.

The woman without a maid who wants to entertain will find a casserole main dish a great help. The dish can be prepared in the early morning and kept in the refrigerator until time to put it in the oven. With the main dish out of the way, there will not be such a mad rush at the last minute. Chicken and mushrooms or sweet-breads and mushrooms or a fish mousse are a few of the many delicious combinations suitable for the party casserole.

When time is precious the casserole dish can be prepared and put into the oven without the necessity of close watching. This gives extra time to finish a bit of spring cleaning, gardening or sewing.

The casserole should be closely covered for uncooked foods until the last half hour of cooking. Then remove cover and brown the top.

A savory sauce forms the basis of one type of casserole dish. This sauce is made like a cream with milk and vegetables or meat stock for the liquid. Allow two tablespoons butter and 1 1/2 tablespoons flour for each cup of liquid.

Cabbage and pork in casserole is a nourishing and inexpensive main dish.

Cabbage and Pork in Casserole One small head cabbage, 2 cups cooked rice, 1 pound sausage (bulk), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper.

Parboil cabbage until the leaves will come off easily. Combine rice and sausage and season well with salt and pepper. Make into cakes or roll and brown on all sides. Remove as many leaves from the cabbage as there are sausage and rice cakes and wrap each cake in a cabbage leaf. Chop remaining cabbage very fine and put half of it in a well-buttered casserole. Arrange cabbage rolls on the bed of cabbage and cover with remaining chopped cabbage. Dot with bits of butter and add about three-fourths cup of water in which cabbage has cooked. Bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes. Serve from casserole.

Next: Barbara's plan.

MUSIC STUDENTS ARE BACK FROM CONVENTION

Eight Lawrence conservatory faculty members and seven Conservatory students have returned from Chicago, where they attended the National Music Supervisors convention last week. The convention, which held sessions for an entire week at the Stevens hotel, had on its program nationally known speakers such as Peter Dykema, head of the music school at Columbia university, Mabel Glenn, president of the national association, Hollis Dann, director of the national high school chorus, and Carl Gerkins, head of the music school at Oberlin.

Both the national high school student orchestra and the national high school chorus, as well as the Chicago Symphony orchestra, presented programs at the convention.

Faculty members who attended were Dr. Earl Baker, Prof. E. C. Moore, W. C. Webb, O. I. Jacobsen, Arthur Hastings, and the Misses Irene Eldwell, Carl Short and Marian Miller. Students who were present were Elizabeth Schwartz, Carleton Parr, Ramona Eusemann, Emmy Lou Williams, Harold Rosche, Dorothy Place and Marguerite Graess.

Prof. Moore's new set of books, the Moore Band course, was on display at the convention.

Excursion Barge and Steamer Collide—Dozen Sent to Hospitals

St. Helens, Ore. —(AP)— Federal steamboat inspectors today began an investigation to determine blame for the collision of the excursion barge Swan and the coastwise steamer Davenport in the Columbia river which turned a merrymaking throng of 288 passengers on the pleasure craft into a panic-stricken mob and resulted in the death of three women and one man.

Three others, two men and a youth, are missing and 12 are in hospitals here and in Vancouver, Wash., suffering various injuries.

The collision occurred early yesterday as the double-decked barge, towed by the tug Dix, was returning to Vancouver, Wash., from Longview, Wash., where the excursionists had participated in the day's festivities attendant to the opening of the new interstate bridge.

Opposite St. Helens, while an orchestra's strains mingled with the laughter of the merrymakers, the prow of the lumber laden steamer Davenport loomed out of the darkness. A woman screamed, there was a crash as the ship plowed into the forepart of the barge and the tug Dix sank to the bottom of the river as the pleasure craft lurched suddenly to the starboard.

When the barge floated down river and lodged on a sandbar and the panic which prevailed among the passengers was quieted, a check revealed that four were dead and three missing. Bodies of the dead were recovered.

Dozens of persons were hurled into the murky waters of the Columbia as the two boats collided. Dozens of others walked over a gangplank to the sandbar when the barge came to rest, while still others escaped death by swimming more than three quarters of a mile to either the Washington or Oregon shore of the river.

Tugs towed the barge to the St. Helens harbor where a survey showed a great hole had been torn in its fore section. The Davenport also berthed at St. Helens.

Foreign Representatives Honored At Capital City

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent Washington Society Editor)

Washington—Although Washington society is always interested in the Diplomatic Corps, the spotlight of its full attention has been more strongly focused on this colorful group of foreign nations' representatives recently because of the many changes in its personnel.

Washington has within a month or two, sorrowfully watched the departure of former Ambassador Sir Esme Howard and Lady Howard of Great Britain, and welcomed their successors, Sir Ronald Lindsay and Lady Lindsay. It has seen the honor of the title "dean" of the corps pass from Sir Esme Howard to Dr. Hernan Volador, ambassador of Peru, and from him, after his recent resignation, to Dr. Manuel Teller, ambassador of Mexico. It has also bid farewell to the minister of the Dominican Republic and Mme. Morales, who left the National capital for their home after the minister's resignation.

But last week, the diplomatic corps quite took the center of the stage, in as far as society was concerned it might have been called a "Diplomatic or International Week."

The first brilliant event of the week, was the celebration of Founders' Day on Tuesday by Georgetown university, when the university honored Ambassador Paul Claudel of France, and Arthur Toscanini, famous conductor of the New York Philharmonic Society.

Ambassador Claudel was given the decorations of the James Ryder Bandall Academy of Letters in recognition of his eminence in the literary field, and Toscanini was awarded the honors of the Francisco de Vico Academy of Music, being, in the University's opinion, "the greatest inspiration in the world of music today."

Almost the entire diplomatic corps was present at the ceremony and the following reception. Dr. William Notz, formerly of Watertown, Wis., and Dean of the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown, and Mrs. Notz were in the distinguished company attending.

The return of Dr. Hugo Eckener, general pilot of the Graf Zeppelin on his "round-the-world" flight, to the United States and to Washington was a welcome treat to those who have had the opportunity of meeting him before. Dr. Eckener has made many friends in this country and particularly in the national capital where he was so extensively entertained by the German embassy and other official groups.

He came from his home in Germany especially for the presentation of the National Geographic Society's coveted gold medal, which he received Thursday night. This medal has been previously awarded to only a privileged and worthy few, including Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole; Ronald Amundsen, intrepid explorer; Major General George W. Goethals, builder of the great Panama Canal; Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who has not yet reached this country on his return from his most successful and important Antarctic explorations, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who needs no introduction.

The Geographic Society issued invitations to the diplomatic corps, members of congress and of the Supreme court, and the cabinet to be present at the Eckener presentation. Among the Wisconsin people attending were Representative and Mrs. John M. Nelson of Madison, and Dr. and Mrs. William Notz.

Motion pictures of the Graf's world flight thrilled the spectators. Dr. Eckener was further honored at a dinner at the German embassy Friday. It had been planned as a very formal affair, but because of the official mourning for former President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft, letters were sent to the guests telling them that it would be an informal "black tie" dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. William F. Notz were among the guests.

The diplomatic corps was also much interested in the Russian gala concert given at the Willard Thursday night for the benefit of St. Alexander's Russian Orthodox church and sponsored by his Imperial Highness, Grand Duke Alexander of Russia. Many members of the corps who did not attend the Eckener testimonial were to be found at the concert, with the Ambassador of Mexico and the Minister of Greece taking boxes.

Mrs. William F. Notz was one of the sponsors. The artists were all famous for their interpretation of Russian music. They included Michael Shvets, basso, formerly of the Russian Imperial theatre; Peatle Barti, soprano, soloist to Queen Victoria-Eugenia of Spain; Nicholas Kopelkine, Russian pianist, and Emanuel Zetlin, violinist, and professor of the Washington college of Music.

Miss Pola LaFollette, sister of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Madison, visited her mother and brother in Washington for a few days last week. She arrived March 20 and stayed just long enough to hear her brother flay the tariff bill in the senate. She left Tuesday for California where she will visit her husband, George Middleton, the playwright who is with the Fox film corporation in Hollywood.

Miss LaFollette's sister, Mrs. Ralph Sucher, was also present in the gallery at the senate Monday for the final debate. Mrs. Sucher, the former Mary LaFollette, has taken up the study of art.

Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, wife of Representative Cooper of Racine, last week attended her first two social affairs since the beginning of official mourning, and both were very informal luncheons.

Monday she was guest at the luncheon given by Mrs. Edgar Ellis, wife of Representative Ellis of Missouri, in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank H. Ellis; and Wednesday she attended a luncheon given by Mrs. Frank W. Mondell.

Senator and Mrs. John J. Blaine of Boscebel left Washington Wednesday for their Wisconsin home. They do not expect to return to Washington before the first of May.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr. of Madison, left the same day for Florida to rest during the senate's week vacation.

Colonel Lloyd P. Horsfall of Prairie du Chien, and Mrs. Horsfall are now living in Washington. Colonel Horsfall is now stationed at the Army War College here as a student. The Army War College is a school for the instruction of a selected group of officers with a view toward their being given high command.

Colonel Horsfall has not been in Prairie du Chien since 1925 but plans to visit there this summer. His father, D. P. Horsfall, and a sister, Mrs. William R. Graves live here.

Mrs. P. M. Anderson, formerly of Augusta, Wis., and wife of Colonel Anderson of Madison, entertained a small company at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Horsfall at the Congressional club Tuesday.

Mrs. John J. Esch, wife of the former Interstate Commerce Commissioner from La Crosse, attended the Monday luncheon of the Mount Pleasant Ladies' Guild at the home of Mrs. Robert Young.

Mrs. Esch was born in Illinois, but claims Sparta as her home town, having moved there when very young.

Mr. Esch also lived in Sparta and they were married there, only moving to La Crosse when he began the practice of law.

Mrs. Esch's brother and sister-in-law, also live in Washington. Mrs. George Esch has been quite ill and there has been no apparent improvement in her condition.

Charles Kading, Jr., of Watertown visited his father, Representative Charles Kading, in Washington last week.

Miss Sylvia Meyer, daughter of Interstate Commerce Commissioner Balthasar Meyer and Mrs. Meyer of Madison, Wauwatosa and Superior, and a graduate of the June 1929 University of Wisconsin class, is studying the harp at the Peabody Institute in Baltimore.

Miss Meyer has studied and played the harp since she was only seven years old, and has often appeared in public concerts and recitals. While attending the University of Wisconsin at Madison, she often played in public but was unable to continue her studies there.

The Peabody Institute is considered one of the best musical conservatories in the East, and Miss Meyer is delighted with her instructors.

Dr. and Mrs. William Notz had a very busy week. Monday, Dr. Notz attended a stag dinner at the Willard Hotel given by Dr. Max Jordan, a newspaper correspondent here for German papers in honor of his successor.

Wednesday, Mrs. Notz took her three children, Natalie, Allen, and William, to hear Mrs. Lequeux, a lecturer and imitator of birds, who was appearing under the auspices of the Community Institute of Washington.

Saturday Mrs. Notz was a guest at Mrs. Otto Veerhoff's luncheon. Mrs. Veerhoff will probably be a candidate for the presidency of the American Association of University Women, of which Mrs. Notz is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Orth, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Orth, Jr., and their youngest son, Philip, their third all of Milwaukee, arrived in Washington Friday, March 21, after dining from Wisconsin.

Mrs. John C. Schaefer wife of Representative Schaefer of Milwaukee lunched with them Saturday at the Washington hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Orth, Sr., took their daughter, Betty, a student at the National Park Seminary here, with them on a trip through New York, Philadelphia, and Atlantic City on her spring vacation. They expect to return to Washington on March 28 or 29 before starting for Wisconsin.

Mrs. James A. Frear, wife of Representative Frear of Hudson, was one of the hostesses at the regular Friday afternoon tea and entertainments of the Congressional club Mrs. John C. Schaefer attended.

Mrs. Charles Cooper, a member of the faculty of Peabody Institute and a brilliant pianist, gave a half hour recital, and was followed by Miss Alice Cooke in a Mexican program of songs and dances. So even the Congressional club has gone into "terrestrial."

Miss Cooke, who had recently returned from Mexico, appeared in a rare old Mexican costume.

A. F. Dubber, former student at the University of Wisconsin, was a member of the excellent cast of "Great Catherine," a brilliant comedy by George Bernard Shaw given by the Columbia Players recently.

The Columbia Players are one of the most experienced and accomplished of all the little theatrical groups in the national capital. They have twice in succession won the one act play contest given each year by the Community Drama Guild of Washington. This year in addition to winning the contest, one of the members of their cast won the individual award of excellence of acting.

Dubber was member of the prize-winning play cast, which the players hope to send to New York to compete in the David Belasco one act contest.

One of the most interested members of the audience at "Great Catherine" was Cecil Lovewell, 1929 June graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a former fraternity brother of Dubber's. He had not seen his friend for several years, but recognized him in spite of a wig and grease paint.

They had an enthusiastic reunion in the young actor's dressing room after the play.

Is Stricken

Representative John Q. Tilson above of Connecticut Republican floor leader in the House, was reported to be seriously ill in the Naval Hospital at Washington.

Players was their last years performance of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" which they repeated again and again for use of popular interest and for which they had a distinguished list of patrons headed by Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

The production of "Great Catherine," the story of the beautiful Catherine de Russia and her awkward but clever minister, Potemkin, was made further interesting by the very valuable antiques used in its setting. One seven alone, was valued by its owner at $12,000.

ANTI-FASCIST HEADS IN FRANCE DECRY VIOLENCE

Nice, France —(AP)— It is reported here that several of the leading anti-fascist organizations on the Riviera are preparing to announce their dissolution because leading members do not wish to be associated with the violent methods advocated by extremists here and in Paris.

"This wholesale bombing business —though I happen to know that it has been greatly exaggerated —is not in line with what some of us are planning," said one member. "Too reckless partisans have caused our friends, France, a great deal of trouble."

In fascist quarters the announcement is looked upon suspiciously. French police have been over-exerting themselves with investigating of Italian discussions on the Riviera, and the announcement is thought to be something deeper.

CAR AT GAS FILLING STATION CATCHES FIRE

Menasha—The Menasha fire department was called out Sunday afternoon to extinguish an automobile fire at the Shell oil station. A Ford coupe, owned by Alfred Becker, 1001 N. Neenah, after being filled with gas, ignited near the self starter. The fire department arrived before the blaze reached the gas tank, and extinguished the fire with chemicals before any great damage was done.

ODD FELLOWS NAME SNELLING LEADER

Oshkosh Man Elected President of Nineteenth District

Neenah—John Snelling of Oshkosh was elected president of the nineteenth district of the Grand Lodge Odd Fellows Saturday at a convention at the Twin City Odd Fellows' hall at Menasha. Others elected were R. J. Rasmussen, Oshkosh, vice president; Willis Patterson, Appleton, warden; Willis Patterson, Appleton, secretary, and John McCarter, Appleton, treasurer.

The convention was attended by more than 150 members from lodges of Stockbridge, Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah-Menasha and Oshkosh with guests from Fond du Lac and Seymour. Among the guests were Grand Master F. M. Minshall of Viruqua and Grand Secretary A. N. Anderson of Milwaukee. The meeting was in charge of J. W. Huston of Neenah, district president.

A dinner was served at 6 o'clock under direction of a committee headed by Kephias Sindahl. Among the dinner guests were Mrs. Carrie Andrews of Oshkosh, president of the Oshkosh assembly. During the afternoon business session conducted by the men, the women guests held a card party at which prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. A. M. Jacobson of Oshkosh; Mrs. John McCarter of Appleton, and Mrs. H. Brand of Menasha. In an elaborate program given by Mrs. Frank Friedland of Menasha. A dance at Memorial building closed the day's festivities.

LEGIONNAIRES GOING TO SCHAFKOPF TOURNEY

Neenah—Approximately 100 members of American Legion post will leave Thursday evening for the annual district schafkopf tournament at Berlin. The Legion has issued an invitation to the high school basketball team to be present next Monday evening at the monthly meeting when a supper will be served and the silver sportsmanship trophy presented to the team. The Legion, through Mayor George Sande, requests that all flags displayed on the streets and buildings in honor of the basketball team be left out until after the parade Monday evening.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

HARRY PRICE

Neenah—The body of Harry Price, secretary and treasurer of Kimberly-Clark corporation, arrived at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from Orlando, Fla., and was taken to the home on E. Wisconsin-ave. A funeral service will be conducted at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning by the Rev. A. Gordon Powkes, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church. The body will be placed in a vault in Oak Hill cemetery.

The Kimberly-Clark office will be closed from 10 to 12 o'clock Tuesday morning to allow the employees time to attend the funeral.

MAKE ASSESSMENTS FOR SEWER, PAVEMENT WORK

Neenah—The board of public works met Saturday evening to make final assessments on sewer and pavement work to be completed next summer. All sewer assessments will be $1 a running foot while assessments on the three streets to be paved will vary. The assessment on Elm-st will be $2.68 a running foot for each property owner. Oak-st will be $2.71; and Winneconne-ave will be $2.30.

EAGLE DARTBALLERS WILL MEET FIREMEN

Neenah—The Eagle dartball team will play a game Wednesday night with the firemen team at the city hall diamond. These teams are evenly matched and will play a close series.

REJECT ALL BIDS FOR NEW WELL IN NEENAH

Neenah—All bids submitted to the water works commission for a new 600 foot well at the waterworks station, were rejected Saturday afternoon and new bids will be received on April 13. Too great a difference in the contract prices was given as reason for rejection. The commission met in the morning and opened and tabulated the bids. In the afternoon it was decided that a more uniform list of bids could be secured. The Saturday bids ranged from $6,915 to $10,322.

Neenah Welcomes State Basketball Champions

Neenah—When it was learned here Saturday night that the high school basketball team had won the state championship at Madison, whistles were blown, the city hall bell was rung, in the center of E. Wisconsin-ave. at the intersection with Commercial-st., a huge bonfire was started at request of Mayor George E. Sande. The mayor turned the city over to the pupils and basketball fans. Hundreds of people joined the pupils in cheering, and a snake dance was formed around the fire.

When the news of victory was received a cheer which could be heard for blocks went up from the hundreds of people gathered about the telegraph office where the scores were being received. Hundreds of messages of congratulations were sent to the team and Coach Ole Jorgenson.

Mayor Sande, desirous that the team and its coach should receive all the honor possible, designated Monday as the date for the celebration. A demonstration this evening, ending with a dance at S. A. Cook armory is planned. All school pupils will take part in the parade and as many others who wish.

On Tuesday evening a community banquet is to be given at the Valley Inn for the team and coach. Anyone purchasing a ticket will be admitted. The speaker will be Coach George Little or Dr. Walter Meenwell of the University of Wisconsin.

The team arrived home at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and was met by the high school band, Mayor Sande and a large group of fans. After a parade of the main streets, the players went home to rest.

DRAW JURY LIST FOR CIRCUIT COURT TERM

Neenah—The list of 36 petit jurors to serve at the April term of Circuit Court, which commences April 14, has been prepared at the office of Frank W. Schneider, clerk of court.

There are 16 Oshkosh people on the list, and the others are from various townships and villages. No residents from Neenah or Menasha are included. It is noticed that of the total number of jurors, 27 are men and nine are women. The calendar for the court term is not yet prepared, but indications now are that there will be comparatively few cases for jury trial.

FLOOD DANGER NOT GREAT THIS YEAR

Lake Only Three Inches Above Crest of Dam, Official Reports

Neenah—There is apparently no danger of flood damages this spring in spite of last week's snowstorms, according to Allan H. Tripp, president of the Association for the Relief of "High Water," who has been inspecting river conditions as far north as Antigo.

Lake Winnebago now registers three inches above the crest of the Menasha dam. The danger level is considered more than 15 inches above the dam crest. The lake level rose at the rate of from one-fourth to one-half inches in 24 hours and has been rising at that rate for the past few days. That may increase the danger, but it is not considered serious, especially when only one sluice gate is open at the Menasha dam and none at the Neenah dam. The Wolf river at Gills Landing is considered at a safe level. Water at Gills Landing is not rising. The river near Shiocton is swollen in some places, but the water is not rising and no flood danger is anticipated. Between Shawano and Poygan the river level is low and there is plenty of room for the flow of water.

DOG ACTOR IN PARIS SUIT

A little dog may be listed as "pardoners" in a vaudeville act, according to a Paris court. The decision was the result of a case brought by Polaire, the actress. She had given as the title of a sketch which she had been engaged to perform in a music hall as "Polaire and Her Partner," but when only her pet canine appeared on the stage, she was forced to desert the stage. The court decided that the dog should be a heavy animal. Between Shawano and Poygan the river level is low and there is plenty of room for the flow of water.

BRYAN FACULTY TO PLEDGE BELIEF IN STORY OF CREATION

Found a mentalist College, Outgrowth of Scopes Trial, Opens Soon

BY ROBERT TALLEY

Dayton, Tenn. — The "old time religion" is to be protected against the attacks of modern education by "fifty thousand fundamentalists" fighting for the faith of our fathers," who think enough of their faith to give $100 each.

Here in the hills of East Tennessee, where five years ago William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow fought their famous battle on the subject of the Devil and the many viewed it, the Bryan Memorial University is getting ready to open classes in September. For evolution and defender of the faith, it is designed to provide a college education that will be in full accord with the teachings of the Bible.

Every university official and faculty member will be required to make solemn affirmation of the following points and to guard against possible backsliders, repeat this affirmation once each year:

1. We believe that the Holy Bible is of final and supreme authority in faith and life and being inspired by God, is inerrant.
2. We believe in God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost, this Trinity being one God, externally existing in three persons.
3. We believe in the Virgin birth of Jesus Christ.
4. We believe that the origin of man was by fiat of God in the act of creation as related in the Book of Genesis.
5. We believe that all human beings are born with a sinful nature and are in need of a Savior for reconciliation with God.
6. We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ is the only Savior, that He was crucified for our sins, according to the Scriptures.
7. We believe in the resurrection of the crucified body of Jesus, in His ascension into Heaven and in "that blessed hope," the personal return to this earth of Jesus Christ, where He shall reign forever.
8. We believe in the bodily resurrection of all persons, judgment to come, the everlasting blessedness of the saved and the everlasting punishment of the lost.

RAIL SERVICE HAMPERED

Other advisers stated that service on the Nanchang-Kiukiang railway, which affords a means of evacuation, has been interrupted, but the cause was not given.

Reports from still another source said brigades were in control of the Kan river district from Kanchow, where 16 American missionaries are besieged, to Nanchang, making water travel most precarious.

Unconfirmed advices were that some foreigners already had left Nanchang for Shanghai. None of these, however, are believed to have arrived at yet. A Chinese gunboat arrived at Nanchang, apparently to evacuate Chinese officials in case of emergency rather than to attempt protection of the populace.

According to the Chinese press, Kiukiang provincial officials have appealed to China Kai-Shek, head of the Nationalist government, to relieve their province of "the grip of the rising tide of Communism."

The Chinese papers also stated that advices from Chungkiang, Ezechwan province, reported increasing Communist activities in the southern part of that province. Stationary Kwangtung, dispatches said that Communists were increasingly active along the Fukien border, widening their sphere of influence by establishing a propaganda corps to disseminate soviet doctrines.

Messages from the Standard Oil company of New York at Nanchang said the situation was precarious but that evacuation had not yet begun. River dispatches stated foreign ships on the upper Yangtze continued to be subjected to rifle and machine gun attacks from bandits.

Other advisers stated that service on the Nanchang-Kiukiang railway, which affords a means of evacuation, has been interrupted, but the cause was not given.

Reports from still another source said brigades were in control of the Kan river district from Kanchow, where 16 American missionaries are besieged, to Nanchang, making water travel most precarious.

Unconfirmed advices were that some foreigners already had left Nanchang for Shanghai. None of these, however, are believed to have arrived at yet. A Chinese gunboat arrived at Nanchang, apparently to evacuate Chinese officials in case of emergency rather than to attempt protection of the populace.

According to the Chinese press, Kiukiang provincial officials have appealed to China Kai-Shek, head of the Nationalist government, to relieve their province of "the grip of the rising tide of Communism."

The Chinese papers also stated that advices from Chungkiang, Ezechwan province, reported increasing Communist activities in the southern part of that province. Stationary Kwangtung, dispatches said that Communists were increasingly active along the Fukien border, widening their sphere of influence by establishing a propaganda corps to disseminate soviet doctrines.

Messages from the Standard Oil company of New York at Nanchang said the situation was precarious but that evacuation had not yet begun. River dispatches stated foreign ships on the upper Yangtze continued to be subjected to rifle and machine gun attacks from bandits.

Nanchang Trembles as Communist and Bandit Forces Make Headway

Shanghai—(AP)—Foreign dispatches from Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, today said the menace of bandits was increasing and that a general evacuation of foreigners was anticipated.

Possible general evacuation of Kiangsi by missionaries and other foreigners because of the steadily increasing menace of bandits and Communists seemed indicated in various reports from the northern part of the province.

These advices, coming from foreign sources, or from official and missionary quarters, stated that the Communistic bandits which previously had confined their depredations to southern Kiangsi were steadily moving northward and that the whole province now is menaced.

Official quarters telegraphed that Nanchang itself was imminently in danger of falling into the hands of the outlaws.

Advices from the Standard Oil company of New York said that Kiukiang, of the Yangtze river, likely would pass into the hand of brigands should they be disposed to attack the city. These advices said government defenses virtually here non-existent there.

An American Y. M. C. A. representative telegraphed from Nanchang that 3,000 bandits under the notorious Chu Teh, were operating in northern Kiangsi and were likely to enter Nanchang. Chu Teh has been blamed for the banditry in Kiangsi and the provincial government recently announced it would pay $50,000 for his capture.

Other advices stated that service on the Nanchang-Kiukiang railway, which affords a means of evacuation, has been interrupted, but the cause was not given.

TEXAS CORPORATION ONE OF STRONGEST OIL INDUSTRY UNITS

Stock Traded on New York Exchange Is That of Holding Company

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES

New York—One of the strongest units in the oil industry outside of the Standard Oil companies is the Texas Corporation. The stock of the company traded in on the New York Stock Exchange is that of a holding company which owns all the capital stock of the Texas Company, an operating organization, stock in other subsidiaries and 95 per cent of the stock of California Petroleum. Besides its oil activities Texas Corporation is interested with other companies in the proposed natural gas pipeline from the Panhandle Texas field to Chicago.

Funded debt consists of $100,000,000 in 5 per cent convertible debenture bonds and $24,469,813 bonds and purchase money obligations of subsidiaries including $17,200,000 California Petroleum issues. Capital stock of $25 par value is outstanding to the amount of $246,240,800. The bonds of the parent company are a high grade investment and have the additional advantage of being convertible at par into stock, present conversion price being $70 a share. This is well above the present market but not so far above as to exclude expectation of a profit from the privilege. Net income after charges for 1929 was equivalent to $1.91 a share on the capital stock outstanding at the end of the year. The market capitalizes these earnings at a higher rate than those of most independent producers but that is because of the exceptional strength of the Texas Corporation.

In the same manner the bonds sell to give a comparatively small return. The two issues of California Petroleum bonds, one of them a 5 1/2 per cent issue due November 1, 1935, and the other a 5 per cent issue due February 1, 1939, carry conversion privileges into California Petroleum stock notwithstanding the fact that practically all the outstanding shares of that company are owned by Texas Corporation. These conversion prices are, however, well above the level at which the few remaining publicly owned shares are offered in the open market.

It is conceivable, nevertheless, that sometime the bonds will be in demand because of this privilege and meanwhile they are entirely sound investments. Texas Corporation stock paying $3 in dividends and covering requirements by a fair margin would seem to be a good speculative investment for those optimistic about the longer term outlook for the oil industry.

Sugar Bush Residents Busy Making Maple Sugar

BY W. F. WINSEY
Sugar Bush—This village was so named on account of the forests of sugar maples the township contained when the early settlers began to arrive. True to the name the early settlers made maple sugar each spring and their followers have done so ever since. Succeeding generations of farmers have been able to make maple sugar because they and early settlers saved sugar bushes from destruction on farms of the township.

Methods of manufacture, however, have changed with the times. Originally, the sugar maker notched a tree with an ax, and with a half-circle gouge driven into the tree an incision for a crude spile of the same shape as the gouge. The sap dripped from the spile into a crude trough about three feet long made from a log about 13 inches in diameter. The tools used in the construction of the trough were an ax, and adz and often a large gouge on a handle that could be swung as an adz. The sap was gathered in barrels and often stored in huge troughs from 30 to 50 feet long, made from a basswood tree between 3 and 4 feet in diameter. The sap was gathered in pails suspended from a yoke on the shoulders of a man, poured into a barrel on long sleds drawn by oxen.

The sap was drawn to the boiling place by the oxen where it was poured into the storage trough. For evaporating purposes large kettles were used hung on a pole over an open fire, the poles being supported by a post driven into the ground at either end of a pole. Often, however, an evaporating pan about 8 inches deep, resting on an arch made of stone and clay, was used. The pan holding a barrel or more of sap had two inch planks for its sides and sheet iron for a bottom and ends. The arch or kettles were located at a convenient point in a sugar bush, and were not under cover.

Now a tree is tapped by boring a half inch hole into it about two inches deep in which a tubular metal spile about 3 inches long is driven. A metal pail is hung on the spile to catch the sap.

If the sugar bush is large sap is gathered with a team and sled but if small by a man carrying pails to the boiling down place, where it is stored in metal tanks or in barrels. The evaporation pan is about 10 inches deep, three or four feet wide and from eight to 10 feet long, rests on a well constructed brick arch and has a capacity of a barrel or more of sap. It is usually in a sugar bush or at least under a roof. For fuel, stumps and refuse wood are used.

In the old days much sap was wasted by running down the bark from the gashes in the trees by blowing clear of the troughs to the ground, and by passing through the podes of the soft wood troughs. Now no sap is lost unless it boils over. John Ruckdashel, one of the modern maple sugar makers of Sugar Bush, tapped 260 trees on March 12, three weeks earlier than usual, in company with William Hoffman. The first week, the sap made a record breaking run. On Sunday of that week they gathered 15 barrels. They do their boiling down in a large pan on a concrete arch under a roof in the sugar bush where they also finish the syrup. The pan holds three barrels and is refilled gradually as the sap boils down. In 12 hours they exvaporated 15 barrels. They use pine stumps for fuel. They gather the sap in a 300 gallon gas drum on a sleigh. It requires 40 gallons of sap to make a gallon of syrup.

They expect the season to last three weeks longer.

Others in this vicinity who are making maple syrup are Andrew Ruckdashel who has tapped 200 trees; Lawrence Hiesman, 200 trees; Frank Russ 150 trees; and Ernest Thoma, 200 trees. All of these men report better runs than usual.

REVEAL PRACTICES OF OLEO COMPANIES

Much of Advertising Either Wrong or Misleading, Commission Finds

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—The unfair methods used by a corporation manufacturing oleomargarine in competing with the dairy industry have been revealed by the Federal Trade commission and the company has been forced to sign a stipulation agreeing to discontinue its misrepresentations.

Although it advertised its product as "churned especially for lovers of butter" and described it as containing "only pure fresh pasteurized milk, and rich vegetable oils . . . the reason for its wholesomeness," it was not creamery butter, nor a dairy or milk product, but was manufactured principally from ingredients or substitutes not used in creamery butter. One of the products contained some animal fat.

The other product had never been inspected by the United States government although it was advertised as "government inspected and O K'd by Uncle Sam."

Names of firms and individuals signing "stipulation agreements" are not given out by the Federal Trade commission. However, the commission, to expose methods of competition which it considers unfair, presents the facts in each proceedings. Such a presentation is also a guide to the various industries and a protection for the public.

Among the 500 applications for 25 positions in the London police force recently were two from Glasgow, Scotland, sent in the same envelope.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

EXCUSE our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing EXCLUSIVE about this swiftly-growing society. It's INCLUSIVE—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

If you value the cultural influence of music . . . if you feel that the price you pay for theatrical entertainment entitles you to real music rendered by living musicians in the theatre, sign the coupon below and mail it.

Give Your Children Chance To Learn Joys Of Gardening

A small space set aside for the children will give them many happy and interesting days and will help wonderfully to develop the qualities of self-reliance and of patience; teaching at the same time the sense of aesthetic beauty and the love of harmony and best of all, impressing on their young minds the truth that faithful labor is rewarded, while indolence and carelessness bring their own penalties and losses.

These are the lessons we learn in our gardens and our children can learn the same lessons in the same pleasant way.

Let each child have a garden "patch" of his own. Give him an assortment that will mean all-season bloom. That will keep him interested. Show him how to plant and how to care for the garden, but do not do it for him. Perennials are preferred to annuals because the child will learn to know the foliage and will not pull the plant when he is weeding.

An archway trellis covered with climbing roses may separate the children's garden from your own, giving the children their dearly loved sense of privacy and pride of possession.

If space permits, a bird bath may be included and a gayly colored bench, with ends made to simulate animals or Mother Goose characters, or seats made of woods or concrete in the form of large toadstools.

Garden tools made in small sizes, made particularly for children, are readily available and will add further to the child's pleasure.

Why not plan now for the children's garden? Talk it over with them and let them have the joys of anticipating. When they begin to wonder why they can't have their garden "visit now" and when they try to look through the winter's snows to see if their flowers are growing, they will begin to learn the patience that gardening teaches so well.

NO "OUTSIDERS" WILL ACCOMPANY GRADUATES

A form letter was sent this week by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, to more than 300 persons throughout the state who have written him asking for permission to accompany the Outagamie-co group on its trip to Washington, D. C., next June.

In his letter Mr. Meating points out that he is sorry that he cannot take any outsiders along but the quota of 800 set for the trip has practically been filled by students, parents and teachers of Outagamie-co. He also points out that it is necessary to answer each request with a form letter because of the large number of requests which he received since his plan was announced.

Notice of Judicial Election

APRIL 1, 1930

State of Wisconsin,
County of Outagamie— ss

Office of County Clerk.
March 12, 1930.

To the Electors of Outagamie County:

Notice is hereby given that a Judicial election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of Outagamie, on the First day of April 1930, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office each in its proper column in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

On the Judicial Ballot the voter will make a cross or mark in the square to the right of the name of each candidate he wishes to vote for, or write in the name, if it be not there.

(c) If a ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballots. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked the ballot should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot, or ballots to be placed in the ballot box and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

Neenah High School Cagers Win State Championship

WALLOP RACINE IN TITLE GAME BY SCORE OF 28 AND 5

Champs Set Defensive Record When 43 Points Are Scored Against Them

TWO weeks ago last Saturday evening Ole Jorgensen, coach of Neenah high school basketball team stood in his office in the high school gym and shook his head in amazement.

"I don't know what's wrong with that gang," he said, "they've worked them hard of late and they seem dead and off color. I don't know what can be done to make them snap out of it."

Jorgensen was talking about his high school basketball team, a bunch of youngsters who a few minutes before had defeated Menasha and won the district title. The coach was not jubilant, he was downhearted at the showing of his proteges against inferior teams.

Perhaps no one ever will know what Ole did to make the team "snap out of it," perhaps he didn't do a thing, but it's a bet he didn't feel downhearted in Saturday evening when his big red team wallowed Racine 28 and 5 and brought the Wisconsin interscholastic high school championship back to Neenah and the Fox river valley where it has been hung so often.

Neenah's victory was one of the most decisive ever registered in the finals of a state basketball meet and was a great tribute to a fine coached team as you'll ever find. Three times Jorgensen has taken his Neenah team to Madison for the state meet and with the thought in at first you don't succeed, try, try again, he finally brought home the honors.

WIN NORTHEASTERN TITLE
The Red Rockets also decided another title down at Madison when they defeated Racine in the second game of the meet. Both Neenah and Oconto were tied for honors in the Northeastern Wisconsin league at the end of the playing season. But when the Rockets beat the northern team they broke the tie. The club now is the state champion, Neenah district champion and northeastern Wisconsin champion, not half bad.

Winning the various titles reflects no little credit on Coach Ole Jorgensen of the Rockets. He started the season with a team having but one veteran—Ehlers, the other boys all having been reserves last season. The Rockets lost but one game all season, that to Appleton in a couple of hard fought games, 23 and 0 in a record breaking game.

Neenah entered the finals of the tournament by downing Wausau, 32 and 19, in the first game. Then it toppled Oconto and in the third round beat Monroe. The victories rated them the best defensive club in the meet, only 43 points being scored against them.

Using its height to advantage, Neenah was out in front at the end of the first eight minutes, 4 to 1 in the title game and had pulled ahead to lead at half time, 15 to 4. Phil Hahl, Howard Schmidt and Lobert Bell were leading the Neenah attack, while Ehlers and Leonard Neubauer held the Racine forwards helpless.

Neenah's sharp shooting forward, Hahl, had a chance to show his ability to hit the net because of the steady Neenah defense and when he left the game near the end after incurring his fourth personal foul he had failed to score a single point in a game for one of the few times in his career.

Hahl Leads Scoring
Hahl with eight points, followed by Bell and Schmidt with seven and six points respectively.

Neenah won the tournament after being downed to its first round game to Wausau, defending champion. However, Neenah won that game conclusively by a 10 point margin and actually romped through its other opponents. Neenah's success of the Neenah team made up for last year's disappointing showing when a supposedly great team lost out in its first two games.

Hahl opened the scoring early in the game when he scored under the net for a short toss, Sovick made Racine's first point on a free throw after being fouled by Ehlers.

SINK FREE THROWS
Ehlers made both free throws when he was fouled by DeMark and Bell added another free throw on DeMark's second foul, that completed the scoring for the quarter with Neenah leading, 4 to 1.

Bell made a tip in shot at the opening of the second quarter and Neenah was off on a rampage that continued only when the score had been pushed up to 11 to 3 on baskets by Neubauer and Schmidt. Racine broke in momentarily to bring its total to four on Pucella's free toss, but Hahl added two charity tosses for Neenah and Schmidt tossed a basket to make the score 15 to 4 as the half ended. Weber counted a free throw for Racine as the second half opened and that was the last point the losers answered.

Hahl pushed in a short shot and Lobert Bell battered in a tip in goal followed by a sensational one handed toss from the side of the court by Schmidt while dribbling at full speed.

ONE-HAND SHOTS CONNECT
Hahl duplicated Schmidt's one handed toss only from an even more difficult angle and position. Bell made a free throw and Ehlers added a short goal. Thompson and Barnes added a free throw each to close the scoring.

Probably never in the history of the state tournament has there been a more one sided game in the championship finals. Racine won its first tournament as a complete surprise and capped the season by beating Racine in the semi-finals, the latter a team that was credited with the victories over Racine during the regular season, one of them a fou

Here are the youngsters who today are strutting about the streets of Neenah playfully telling their friends to take a look at a state champion. For these boys, the Neenah high school basketball team, won the title last week-end by defeating Wausau, Oconto, Monroe and Racine on successive nights. The team is coached by Ole Jorgensen, a Neenah boy, who, as a player, often entered the state meet, but who did not see the title being in the school until he took the reins and failed in his first two attempts.

WOMEN GOLFERS AT PINEHURST TOURNEY

Pinehurst, N. C. (AP)—The 28th annual women's golf and south golf tournament today drew a field of more than 100 of the nation's best known linkswomen as challengers for the title now held by Glenna Cole.

Her chief engels include Maureen O'neil, Virginia Van Wie, Miss. O. S. Hill and Helen Hicks. The 16 low scorers in the qualifying round will begin match play tomorrow, the final round being Friday. Pinehurst course number three, selected for the tourney, is 6,165 yards long and has a par of 71.

GOLDMAN LOOKS GOOD IN CLEVELAND INFELD

New Orleans (AP)—Jonah Goldman has made himself a more serious contender for the Cleveland Indians' shortstop job. Continuing his fine fielding in yesterday's victory over New Orleans, Goldman handled 15 chances without a blot and in addition was the only Indian to collect two hits.

BABE HERMAN SIGNS BROOKLYN CONTRACT

Cleaver, Fla. (AP)—Clayton (Babe) Herman is back in the fold and all's well with the Brooklyn Robins. Herman, a hardy holdout all spring, finally surrendered yesterday and accepted terms of a one-year contract at $15,000. He asked for $25,000.

SPRING FOOTBALL AT U. W. FAILURE TO DATE--THISTY

Small Daily Turnout Makes Coach "Gloomy Glenn" Gloomier Than Ever

MADISON — "Our spring practice to date has been most disappointing. Indeed, it would scarcely be overrating the case to say that it has been almost a failure," was the statement of Glenn Thistlethwaite, head football coach of the University of Wisconsin at the close of the first week of spring gridiron training.

Coach Thistlethwaite explained that his remarks had no reference to the spirit of the men who have come out. Rather, they were directed toward the fact that not nearly enough men have appeared and that unless there is a marked increase in numbers immediately, the objectives of the spring practice will be impossible of attainment.

Spring training began Monday, under adverse conditions, the heavy snowfall of the previous day having rendered outdoor work impossible. He took the squad to the stock pavilion and gave them an indoor drill Monday and again on Wednesday, but due to the holding of the all-university boxing championships in the Pavilion Tuesday, the coach had to confine that day's session to a chalk talk.

The largest turnout was 60 men, on Thursday. Only 40 appeared Friday. Thus far, the only varsity line-men to report have been Tobias, Kruger, Harold Smith and Captain Gantenben. None of the varsity backs have reported. Russ Rehbohl will join the squad Monday but Sammy Behr is with the track team while Tury Oman, Nello Pasetti and Earl Lusk are candidates for the baseball team. Rev of the leading members of last fall's frosh squad have as yet reported.

"The only way we can improve on last year's situation is by getting the material organized in spring practice," Coach Thistlethwaite stated. He explained that it is only in the spring that the men can be taught football. In the fall, when games come on almost at once, there can be almost no individual coaching and it is by individual coaching that men learn football and improve as players. In the fall every thing must be team work.

Spring football practice, as administered at Wisconsin, is not a severe ordeal for the players, who rarely work more than an hour a day. For this reason and because the men who fail to take these drills voluntarily handicap themselves for the fall season, Coach Thistlethwaite finds it difficult to understand the apathy here regarding spring training.

The East River Lumber and Fuel company team, champions in the Major league here, will represent Green Bay. The National Bank of De Pere team will represent De Pere. Other teams are the Nightingale Ball Room, Kaukauna; Hoppies Viennas, Appleton; Loop Cafe, Menasha and Bergstrom Paper, Neenah.

The first series is scheduled at Appleton, April 2. The second round at Menasha April 7. Green Bay will be host for the kegs April 17 and on April 23 the teams will roll at Neenah. The final round will be rolled at Kaukauna, April 28.

SOUTHEASTERN OPEN MEET BEGINS TODAY

Horton Smith and Bobby Jones Among Well Known Players Entered

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—The sensational young pros, Horton Smith, and the great amateur, Bobby Jones, were among 100 or more on hand for the $5,000 southeastern open golf tournament today.

There will be two rounds today at the Augusta County club and two rounds tomorrow at the Forest Hills-Rucker course.

Jones, beaten by one stroke in his first meeting with Smith at Savannah in February has been four days, testing his shots over the two courses. Smith got here tonight last night to try out the courses.

Yesterday Jones and Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., beat Al Esposito of Chicago and Gene Sarazen of New York, 3 and 2. Jones shot a 69, one over the course record and two under par. Dudley had a 76. Sarazen a 74 and Esposito a 77.

COCHRANE NAMES 20 A. L. BASE STEALERS

St. Augustine, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, sparkling catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, says there are about 20 American leaguers who are always a threat when on base. Those most likely to try to steal, he says, are Yankees—Lazenby and Combs; Washington—Rice, Goslin, Myers and Chicago—Rothrock, and Barlett; Blue—Cassell, Hummel and Metzler; Cleveland—Morgan; Boston—Clegg; St. Louis—Blue and Manush; Detroit—Gehring and Johnson of the Athletics; Cochrane lists Miller as the most dangerous on the paths.

Stalling In Cage Games Presenting A Problem

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS

Copyright 1930

CHICAGO—Basketball coaches the country-over are in agreement that the stalling tactics so prevalent during the past season are changing the game from a fast and interesting exhibition of athletic skill to a dull piece of entertainment. Something necessarily must be done to eliminate this fungus of the game but no one seems to know the proper method of cure.

L. W. St. John of Ohio State, chairman of the intercollegiate rules committee, is one who is strong in his condemnation of the stalling practices. He favors immediate legislation to prevent it but does not know just what form the rule should take.

St. John thinks the elimination of stalling from basketball largely is a matter of sportsmanship and therefore up to the individual coach. He attempts to inform the coaches of the subject. The coaches will meet in Chicago, April 4 and after the matter has been thoroughly discussed the findings will be passed on to the rules committee.

Questions asked by Ruby were: "In how many games was the total scoring of both teams less than 10, 15, 20 and 25 points?" "In how many games was the stalling begun in the first quarter? Second? Third? Fourth?"

"In how many games, when the stalling began, did the defense immediately come down the floor and force the game?"

"In how many games did the defense refuse to come down the floor until near the end of the game?" "In how many games was the fast break used all the time by one team or the other?"

Coaches realize that speed and the rapid change from offense to defense were the features that made basketball grow so rapidly in popularity during the past few years. St. John reports that answers to questionnaires sent out concerning the elimination on the tip off in favor of some other scheme of starting play, show an almost even division of opinion. In St. John's opinion there are only a few coaches who have experimented with the "throw in" system and few know how the scheme would work.

Harold Olsen the Ohio State coach, tried it out during the past winter, in practice games, and was well satisfied with the result. But in some quarters it is believed that another season will be needed to convert a majority to any change in the tip off and that the rules committee's long task this year will be devising some legislation or agreement among coaches that will remove stalling from the game.

accomplished if all coaches would agree to eliminate stalling by their teams.

Cling Ruby of the University of Illinois and president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches has addressed a questionnaire to more than 800 coaches asking for statistics on stalling, total scoring and other points of information pertinent to the subject. The coaches will meet in Chicago, April 4 and after the matter has been thoroughly discussed the findings will be passed on to the rules committee.

CONFERENCE FIGHT IS PENDING OVER DAIRY SCHEDULE

Higher Rates on Each Dairy Product Except Butter Adopted

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington — The entire dairy schedule of the tariff bill will have to be fought out in conference, as the Senate adopted higher rates on each dairy product, with the exception of butter.

The conferees, who will probably be named Monday, can accept the rates adopted by the House of Representatives or those adopted by the Senate, or can effect a compromise between the two. They cannot adopt a lower rate than the House rate or a higher rate than the Senate rate.

With the exception of casein, it is probable that the higher Senate rates will be accepted, as it is understood that they are more scientifically proportioned to the duty of 14 cents a pound on butter, on which the two Houses agree, and the butter rate is the basis for the other rates.

All are increases over the rates on dairy products set by the 1922 act, but the President has raised the dairy rates under the flexible provisions of the tariff law so that the new rates represent little actual increase. They do, however, give a higher basic rate for future emergency increases, if needed.

The dairy rates adopted by each House are as follows:

HERE ARE RATES

Whole milk, fresh or sour, 5 cents a gallon in the House bill and 6 1/2 cents in the Senate bill; Cream, fresh or sour, 48 cents a gallon in the House bill and 56.6 cents in the Senate bill; Skimmed milk, fresh or sour, and butterfat, 13 cents a gallon in the House bill and 2 1/2 cents in the Senate bill, provided that fresh or sour milk containing more than 5 1/2 per cent of butterfat (7 per cent in the House bill) shall be dutiable as cream and fresh or sour cream containing more than 45 per cent of butterfat shall be dutiable as butter, and skimmed milk containing more than 1 per cent of butterfat shall be dutiable as whole milk.

Condensed or evaporated milk in airtight containers, 14 cents a pound in the House bill and 18 cents a pound in the Senate bill; Sterilized milk, 13 cents a pound in the House bill and 18 cents a pound in the Senate bill; all other condensed or evaporated milk, 2 cents a pound in the House bill and 2 1/2 cents in the Senate bill.

Dried whole milk, 42 cents a pound in the House bill and 6 1/2 cents in the Senate bill; Dried cream, 104 cents a pound in the House bill and 12 1/2 cents in the Senate bill; Dried skimmed milk and butterfat, 23 cents a pound in the House bill and 3 cents in the Senate bill, with the Senate stiffening the definitions concerning the content of butterfat.

Malted milk and compounds and substitutes for milk and cream, 30 per cent ad valorem in the House bill and 55 per cent in the Senate bill.

Butter, oleomargarine, and other butter substitutes, 11 cents a pound in both bills.

Cheese and cheese substitutes, 7 cents a pound but not less than .35 per cent ad valorem in the House bill and 8 cents a pound but not less than .42 per cent ad valorem in the Senate bill. The Senate also added an amendment placing a duty of 8 cents a pound on cheese made of sheep's milk and 5 cents a pound in the House bill and 3 cents a pound in the Senate bill.

Wisconsin farmers sought a higher duty even than 55 cents on casein, while Wisconsin paper manufacturers are seeking to have the conference accept the House rate of 23 cents, which is the present duty.

It is certainly the irony of fate that the words of Senator John J. Blaine, who has harried lobbyists all through the lobby investigation, should be chosen by the paper representatives as their argument to place before the conferees urging the lower duty on casein.

The Coated Paper Manufacturers committee has prepared a four-page leaflet setting forth the situation on casein, to present to the conferees, and three pages of it consists of quotations from speeches made by Senator Blaine in the Senate. Senator Blaine argued for the 55-cent rate but against the 2-cent rate.

A paper lobbyist asked Senator Blaine if he minded and he replied, "I can't get an instruction against your paper reprinting something from the Congressional Record." The paper people chose the speech in which Senator Blaine said that the 5-cent duty on casein was ineffective and like handling a "solid brick" to the farmer.

LA FOLLETTE OUT? — The movement for placing Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. on the conference committee seems to have collapsed when the coalition collapsed, so that the Senatorial members will doubtless be Smoot of Utah, Watson of Indiana, Shortridge of California—advocate of the 2-cent duty on casein—Simmons of North Carolina, and Harrison of Mississippi. The House members will be Hawley of Oregon, Treadway of Massachusetts, Bacharach of New Jersey, Garner of Texas, and Collier of Mississippi.

When Senator La Follette completed his scathing denunciation of the "million-dollar" tariff and the "trading" by which it was allegedly written, some one in the packed galleries started to applaud which instantly against the rules. The applause was quickly hushed by the attendant.

Shortly thereafter, Representative James A. Fear of Hudson, only Wisconsin member of the Ways and Means committee, was denouncing the gag rule under which the bill was passed by the House and was attacking the sugar tariff.

KOHLER VISITS HOOVER

Governor and Mrs. Walter Kohler and their son, Walter Jr., paid a flying visit to Washington Monday. While the governor called on President Hoover, Mrs. Kohler and their son spent a few minutes in the Senate gallery and heard Senator Blaine denounce the oil operators for threatening to boycott Wisconsin products on account of the actions of the Wisconsin Senator in connection with the oil tariff and the oil lobby.

Governor Kohler also called on Representatives John C. Schafer and William H. Stafford of Milwaukee. He was in Washington only a few hours, going on to New York and thence back home.

John J. Kempf, of Milwaukee, former state treasurer of Wisconsin, was in Washington during the past week and called on Representatives Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, John M. Nelson of Madison, and Florian Lampert of Oshkosh. Kempf was in the State Senate many years ago when Representative Cooper was elected a state senator, and they talked together about old times in Madison.

The Senate has confirmed the nominations of the following Wisconsin postmasters: Leo O. Dietrich at Cassville; Henry W. Lemmenes at Cedar Grove; William T. Hoyt at Rosendale; and Guilford K. Derge at Valders.

The President has sent to the Senate the nomination set for the following Wisconsin postmasters for reappointment: Edward D. Cunningham at Darbin; Elms Dugal at Cadott; Charles J. Anderson at Clayton; William A. Robler at Coloma; John W. Crandall at Deerbrook; Michael C. Keating at Exeland; George B. Aschenbrenner at Elfeld; Roy E. Lawler at Gouder; John T. Johnson at Hollandale.

Matthew H. Schlosser at Knausp; William L. Chesley at Lena; Albert W. Pries at Malden Rock; Martin A. Hanson at Menomonie; Albert H. Anderson at Nelson; Arnold E. Langenak at Sawyer; Fred S. HAS MOST GOLD

Paris—With the per capita rate of gold at $40, France is now said to lead the entire world in the possession of gold. This came about after the Berengaria landed at Cherbourg with $43,200,000 in gold for the Bank of France. The United States ranks second, with $37.50 per capita in treasury gold stock.

REAL TRAPPINGS ON PARIS NEGLIGEEES

Sky-blue Velvet Spotted With Dawn Pink, Is One Example

New York—When Paris gets into negligee attire, she gets into more and more gorgeous trappings. Try, for example, to be really negligent in sky-blue velvet, spotted with dawn pink and trimmed about the hem and wide sleeves with dawn pink marabout. Upon the swirling skirt which, by the way, is hardly more than knee-length, the marabout is sewn in a question-mark motif, whatever that may indicate.

In order to make it easier for you to get a hat which matches your sports costume, they are making coquettish little hats in shantung and pongee, stitched round and round the crown and floppy brim, these hats come in almost any color you could name and are trimmed only with a ribbon band of deeper shade.

Among the springtime jewelry there are smart necklaces flat as a pancake and of somewhat more than choker length. With marcasite and silver settings, these handsome bangles shine with such semi-precious stones as chrysoprase, lapis lazuli, onyx, carnelian and chalcodony. Often the settings, of intricate geometric or floral design, are as interesting as the jewels.

SENIOR VAUDEVILLE PRESENTED AT SCHOOL

Under the direction of Miss Ruth McKennan, 22 members of the Appleton high school senior class presented the annual senior vaudeville in the form of a miniature musical comedy, "Down on the Farm".

The cast of characters is as follows: Loyal Fraser, Orlene Wetengel, Monica Cooney, Jean Shannon, David Trittitt, Arthur Roemer, Harvey Reetz, Joseph Grassberger, John Reeve, William Foote, Cyril Theiss and Jerome Watts. The girls' chorus was made up of Betty Meyer, Ida Downer, Roberta Burns, Yvonne Cahn, Arnold Bieleke, Phoebe Trittitt, Lila Locksmith, Virginia Van Wyk, Lillian Guckenburg, Victoria Schultz, Ruth Hoffman and Grace Richmond. Joseph Gilman, Mark Van Ryzin, John Roemer, Neil Langman, Harold Schweitzer, Clifford Durg, Arthur Looss and Raymond Johnson were the members of the boys' chorus.

Jack Kimball directed the orchestra. The piano was played by Russell Wichman. Leo Tilly and Lawrence Osterhaus were property managers.

PUPILS BANK $604 AT LAST BANKING PERIOD

Eighty-four per cent of the pupils of the public schools banked $604.11 during the last weekly thrift period, bringing the total balance on deposit up to $25,802.14. Thirty-nine pupils withdrew $174.08 during the week, and interest credited was $37.07.

Three schools, Columbus, McKinley and Jefferson, banked 100 per cent.

The amounts banked at the various schools were: Columbus, 294, $56.56; McKinley, 95, $14.00; Jefferson, 259, $44.73; Richmond, 63, $6.67; Lincoln, 131, $27.07; Roosevelt, 492, $144.99; First Ward, 304, 101.22; Fourth Ward 176, $28.39; Wilson, 265, $33.97; high school, 558, $91.00; Franklin, 219, $40.09; Washington, 236, $43.44; Opportunity room, 9, $23.4.

Why Suffer?

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, an eminent medical writer said "Back of all Chronic Diseases there is a cause which no drug can reach."

Dr. Otto E. Schoenfeld says "Almost all Chronic Diseases are caused by the 'Absorption of Poisons' or 'Toxic Products' into the Blood stream. The true method of treatment of diseased conditions has for its objective the correction of the condition by getting rid of the cause."

By electro-magnetic induction the weakened cells are re-energized, oxidation is promoted, the elimination of toxic wastage is increased and the cause of the painful and dangerous conditions is thus removed. Health is the inevitable result.

STATE WAR MOTHERS IN 19TH CONTINGENT

Wisconsin gold star mothers will make up the nineteenth contingent to visit the graves of American soldiers and sailors dead in France, according to announcement by the state department of the American legation. The order in which the mothers will visit France was decided by drawing. Mrs. Herbert Hoover, picking the states, Nebraska gold star mothers will be the first to make the trip next summer.

WILL MAKE REPORT ON STATE ROAD PATROLMEN

Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, received blanks last week from the state highway commission on which to report to that body the names of the men engaged to patrol state and federal trunk highways in the county next year. Mr. Appleton also is to report whether the patrolmen use teams, trucks, tractors or motorgraders. He expects to send in the report this week.

To The Citizens of Appleton:

Next Tuesday you are to elect a Mayor for our City. Be sure to cast your vote for Mayor regardless of how you vote on the form of Government.

In my article this week I am bringing to your attention the financial status of the city during the last year of my administration in 1925, and that of the present administration for the year 1929.

At the end of the fiscal year 1925 the net cash balance in the General Fund was $58,861.36 with a tax rate of $29 per thousand. At the close of the fiscal year 1929 the General fund has a deficit of $242,000, with a tax rate of $35.00 per thousand valuation, which is a net loss to the tax payers' within a period of four years, of over $300,000.

In 1925 the cost of operating our City Government was a little less than $500,000 and in the past year, 1929, it amounted to $806,000. This is an enormous increase in the cost of our City Government of over $300,000 as compared to the year 1925.

The cost of operating the street department for 1925 was $103,070.07. The cost of operating the street department for 1929 was $194,940.47. An increase of almost $92,000 in that department alone.

In view of the above brief comparison you will note that the City financially has gone from a Cash Balance in the General Fund to an over-whelming Deficit, and that the cost of operating the City Government has increased more than 75% within the past four years.

In a former article I outlined in detail the important achievements accomplished during my administration. Has the present administration published their accomplishments?

If elected Mayor, I will ever bear in mind the interest of the taxpayer and will again endeavor to bring back the City's financial condition to a normal basis, consistent with a good progressive business administration, and from my previous experience and knowledge of city affairs, respectfully ask your support in my candidacy for the office of Mayor.

Don't Be Misled!

READ THE FOLLOWING OFFICIAL FINANCIAL REPORT

To verify statements made by me in talks and through the press during my campaign for Mayor, regarding the financial condition of the City, I submit a summary of the standing of the City General Fund during my administration for the years 1924 - 1925, as given by E. A. Dettmann, Certified Public Accountant; and, that part of the Audit Report pertaining to receipts and disbursements of the General Fund of the City by the Valley Audit Company, who audited the City's books for the past year, 1929. These audits may be verified by the records in the City Hall.

March 27, 1926.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Appleton, Wisconsin Gentlemen:

In accordance with your instructions we are hereby giving a summary of the standing of the City General Fund for the years 1924 and 1925. The City General Fund consists of the receipts and payments of the city that are under the control of the Mayor and common council.

Overdraft Balance
On January 1, 1924, there was an overdraft of $14,092.79
On January 1, 1925, there was an overdraft of 47,005.02
On January 1, 1926, there was a balance of $58,861.36

From this it will be seen that the city is in a good financial condition and also that there was a great improvement in its financial condition during 1925. The change from an overdraft of $47,005.02 at the beginning of the year 1925 to a balance of $58,861.36 at the close of 1925, means an improvement of $105,866.38.

We wish to certify that the above amounts are correct and in accordance with the records of the city clerk and city treasurer.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) E. A. DETTMANN,
Certified Public Accountant.

February 15, 1930.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council, City of Appleton, Wisconsin. Gentlemen:

Pursuant to engagement we have audited and verified the books of accounts of the City Treasurer and City Clerk for the year 1929.

EXHIBIT B
Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929
RECEIPTS $1,081,265.88
DISBURSEMENTS 1,334,436.48

EXCESS DISBURSEMENTS OVER RECEIPTS $253,170.60

Respectfully submitted,
VALLEY AUDIT CO.
(Signed) By Lewis C. Sleeper."

My policy has always been to present only facts and by the above indisputable verifications you will readily see that the statements made by me are correct notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

(Signed)

JOHN GOODLAND, JR.

Carry Sick Man To Safety From Blazing Residence

New London—William Faskell, town of Ostrander, critically ill with pneumonia, was carried from the burning home of his brother, Joseph, early Sunday morning. His condition Sunday night was hopeful. Fire was discovered by Mr. Faskell's brother, who awakened in a second story room, and though nearly overcome by smoke escaped. Fire was bursting through a defective chimney, and Mr. Faskell was barely able to reach the ground floor. Summoning Alex Garrow, a relative and the closest neighbor, the two men wrapped the sick man in blankets and carried him to safety. An alarm was sent into the New London fire department, but by the time the men had arrived and neighbors had gathered little could be done to save the structure. Fire already was bursting from the roof of the upright part of the house, and with insufficient water chemicals availed little against the flames. Neighbors saved a part of the household furniture, but practically all the clothing except that worn by the members of the household was burned. The fire was discovered at about 3:45 and two hours later had burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at about $3,000, partly covered by insurance. As soon as Mr. Faskell has recovered sufficiently plans will be made for rebuilding upon the old site.

VOTERS HEAR TALKS BY MAYORAL CANDIDATES

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In two mass meetings Saturday and Sunday afternoon two of New London's four mayoral candidates addressed large crowds. Both meetings were held at the Grand theatre, John J. Burns speaking on Saturday and E. W. Wendlandt, present mayor, talking Sunday afternoon. Mr. Burns again will address the citizens at Werner's hall.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Tuesday bridge club celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Werner, Oshkosh, on Saturday. Mrs. Werner was presented with flowers. A supper was served.

An attractive affair was the reception given for Bishop and Mrs. Sturdevant, Appleton, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Demming, Wyman-st. This is the first visit of the Bishop to this parish since his appointment last fall. About 40 were present. The guests were introduced by the Rev. Francis S. Dayton, pastor of St. John's church. A tea was served at 4:30.

Earlier in the day confirmation services were held at the church. Special music was a part of the service, solos being given by R. F. Goranson and Gerald Haase, Miss Sue Freeman being the accompanist. An evening communion service at 7:30 Sunday evening completed the day's events.

The Congregational Ladies Aid society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Milton, Wyman-st. The committee is composed of Mrs. Phoebe Ann Potter, Mrs. J. J. Burns, Mrs. W. E. Milton, Mrs. Austin Dexter and Miss Helen Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jost were dinner guests at the home of their son, Rollin Jost, in Oshkosh, Sunday evening. The young couple recently moved to Oshkosh and Mrs. Jost is now a student at the Oshkosh Teachers' Training college.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

New London—Mr. and Mrs. Austin Dexter and daughter, Margaret Ann, spent Sunday in Manawa. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burns were dinner guests in Appleton on Sunday.

Mrs. Kellogg's mother, who has been a guest in her daughter's home returned with him to her home. Mrs. Bert Haskell, who is spending several weeks in Milwaukee where she is receiving medical treatment, will return home next week.

HILBERT EDITOR IS IN WRECK NEAR KAUKAUNA

Hilbert—Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pieper had a narrow escape from injury Monday afternoon when the coupe in which they were riding went into the ditch and over turned on highway 55, about a mile south of Kaukauna near Lehrer's farm. Mr. Pieper was driving towards Kaukauna at only a fair rate of speed because of the slippery roads. The machine passed an oncoming auto, hit a rut at the side of the road, and rolled over into the ditch. Both persons were wedged in the machine, but after a short time Mrs. Pieper was able to extricate herself, and after forcing the door of the coupe succeeded in releasing Mr. Pieper. Although the frame of the machine was bent and other damages sustained the car was driven to Hilbert. Damages are estimated at about $250.

Mr. Pieper is editor of the Hilbert Favorite.

John L. Gau and Queria Waters attended the funeral of Fred Wagner of Oshkosh Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Knoepfel, Sr., entertained the schachoff club at her home Friday evening. Prize winners were Mrs. Frank Knoepfel, Sr., Mrs. Augusta Karper, Mrs. Jake Jaekel and Mrs. John Vullmer. Mrs. William Moeller will entertain the club next week.

Miss Marie Boer is at St. Agnes hospital at Fond du Lac.

Trustees for the term of three years, William Lippold and Charles Radich, elected section, Charles Radich. It was voted to take $50 from the general fund and apply it to an improvement fund.

BACKFIRING ENGINE SETS FIRE TO SHED

Forest Junction—The village fire department answered a call from the Robert J. Hacker farm Friday where backfiring of a gasoline engine in a pump house had ignited the building. Though the burning gasoline spread the blaze rapidly, the engine succeeded in quenching the flames when a fire truck arrived at the scene. The pump house, about 6 by 10 feet, was occupied only by the engine and damage was confined to the engine and a storage battery and the upper interior portions of the building which were badly charred.

TERRIER WINS TROPHY

Chicago—(P)—Admore Keesake, a Scottish terrier from the kennels of Robert McKinzie of Detroit, won the $1,000 John C. Eastman trophy at the twenty-ninth annual Chicago Kennel club show last night. The trophy is emblematic of the grand championship of the show, regardless of breed.

WORLD BANK ONE OF STRIKING MOVES OF YOUNG COMMISSION

Primary Function, of Course, Is to Collect Reparations

BY PRESTON S. KRECKER
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—Provision for the creation of the Bank of International Settlements under the so-called Young plan was probably, next to the settlement of the German reparations question itself, the most striking achievement of the commission headed by Owen D. Young, brilliant chairman of the General Electric company.

The primary function of the bank, of course, will be to collect and distribute the reparations. Its operations at the start and presumably for some time thereafter will be restricted rather closely to that work. The institution, however, has other important powers which eventually will be exercised extensively. Some of them should be of particular interest to Americans.

One of the most important of those corollary functions will be operations in foreign exchange. The bank for international settlements will find it necessary, in the process of collecting payments of reparations from Germany and transferring them to the creditors, to buy and sell foreign exchange in large amounts.

As a result of such operations it in time will probably attain a position of great influence in the foreign exchange market. Its efforts naturally would be along the line of stabilizing rates in order to facilitate the necessary transfers of reparations. As an outcome, the influence of the bank on international settlements will be in the direction of stabilizing international commerce, which is always affected adversely by violent fluctuations in exchange rates. The potentialities of the bank in that direction, therefore, are of immense importance to a great American foreign trade.

CAN HANDLE GOLD

The Bank for International Settlements also has the power to buy and sell gold, either for its own account or for account of central banks. It also may hold gold for its own account in central banks or, vice versa, accept gold of central banks for deposit under earmark.

Those functions offer the prospect of interesting possibilities in the field of international finance.

The possibility of the international bank carrying on deposit gold reserves of various central banks suggests the transfer of such gold by book credits and earmark from one account to another, with resulting saving in cost and risk of shipping actual gold as is now done. This has been avoided in comparable ways by the federal reserve system.

The security of any gold treasure which in future years may come into the custody of the bank for international settlements has been assured by an article in the charter which expressly declares that all funds in the custody of the bank shall be immune from confiscation, requisition or seizure in case of war.

As the nations which cooperated in drafting the charter surround Switzerland, which is the seat of the bank, their agreement safeguards the bank's assets as well as is humanly possible.

The possibility of the bank for international settlements becoming a stabilizing power in the world's money markets is suggested both by its potential influence over the foreign exchanges and by the authority it possesses to invest in securities. The bank will attract long term deposits which will find their place in international investments, including American securities and bank acceptances. Such investments will tend to relieve credit congestion wherever it might occur. Thus, should credit tighten in the United States and rates of interest soar, as they did last year, those high rates would attract international bank funds to this country, where their presence would help to alleviate conditions.

Oil Well Hits Record Depth; Drops Nearly 2 Miles In Rock

Los Angeles—(P)—Picture a hole in the earth as long as 108 eighty-story buildings laid end to end.

That is the approximate depth of the latest oil well to be classified as the world's deepest. It is the 9,357-foot Hathaway No. 7 at Santa Fe springs field near Los Angeles.

It took 108 sections of drill-pipe, each as long as the average eighty-story building is tall, to reach the bottom of this well.

Twelve Woodworth buildings set on top of each other would just equal its depth.

Fifteen men, working three shifts for Mr. Barrymore, for he is supremely amusing and the audience showed its respects and its judgment in justifiable abousness.

The tackle in which he appears is derived from one of those British comedies about the bourgeoisie and it is full of stunning caricatures of odd, assorted types of the lower middle class.

Thrown into one of those forbiddingly formal gatherings—a seated dinner in a respectably impoverished home—Mr. Barrymore, as a drunken lost and an entomologist to boot, alternately insulted the guests and frightened them by his descriptions of the tragedies of life.

Whole sections of "The Man From Blankley's" indeed are hilarious and in those sections Mr. Barrymore played comedy with a superb sense of humor.

The whole film is, on the whole, merely a tour de force for Barrymore—who is so excellent in it, or in most of it, that any criticism of it on the grounds of aesthetic worth is, probably, beside the point.

CLOSE FIGHT FOR MANY OFFICES IS SEEN IN KAUKAUNA

Three-cornered Race for Mayor Holds Political Spotlight

Kaukauna—Voters Tuesday will elect a mayor, city clerk, assessor, treasurer, two school commissioners and five aldermen and supervisors. Twenty-three candidates are out for the various offices, promising unusual interest.

The race for mayor, is three-cornered. Mayor William Sullivan is opposed by Bert Fargo and William Gantner. Louis C. Wolf, city clerk for 32 years, will be opposed for reelection by Lorenz Mayer.

Joseph H. Dietzler is a candidate for reelection as city treasurer and Peter Metz again is in the race for city assessor. James McFadden and N. M. Haupt are up for reelection as school commissioners. The four men are without opposition.

Eathen Brewster, incumbent, is opposed by George W. Brown for election as alderman in the first ward. John H. Niesen, who has been supervisor for the last five years, will be unopposed for that office.

Sylvester Esler also will be unopposed for reelection as supervisor in the second ward. Walter H. Cooper and Otto Elias, former aldermen, are seeking election as aldermen in that ward in place of T. W. Lindstrom, who is not out for reelection. The race in the third ward is one-sided. There are no opponents to William Carnot, incumbent and candidate for reelection as alderman and William Powers, who is seeking reelection as supervisor in that ward.

In the fourth ward the race will be exciting with two candidates for both the aldermanic and supervisor positions. Ben Bell, present supervisor, has entered the race for alderman and is opposed by Frank Balgic. Hugo Wertenbach, present alderman, is not a candidate. The office of supervisor is being sought by Max Stetich, former supervisor and Arthur H. Mayor.

Bert Roberts, alderman for the last two years, is unopposed for reelection to that office in the fifth ward. Fred Reichel, supervisor for a number of years, also is unopposed in the race for that office.

Directs Club

Harold Chamberlain, above, director of the Ripon College Glee club, considers this year's organization the best he has ever worked with. The club will sing at Kaukauna next Saturday night.

TWO KAUKAUNA MEN ARE ARRESTED BY POLICE

Kaukauna—Charl with stealing auto accessories from a car parked on Island-st, two Kaukauna men, Elmer Pagel, Elm-st, and Arthur Humphries, Island-st, were arrested Sunday morning. The arrest followed a call by a resident on the Island that someone was prowling about the car. They were to be arraigned in municipal court Monday morning.

Officers John Held and Harold Engstrom investigated the call. A resident on the Island saw two men run behind the Faust Drilling Company storehouse. Some of the auto accessories were found on the premises of Mr. Pagel and five hands were found in the rear of the storehouse, which is near Pagel's home, police reported.

The police received the alarm about midnight when Pagel returned home they arrested him and Humphries. The hands, it is charged, were stolen from a smokehouse on the farm of William Legel at Wrightstown. They were owned by Frank Pagel, father of Elmer Pagel.

RIPON SINGERS AT KAUKAUNA SATURDAY

College Club Will Present Concert at Brokaw Memorial Church

Kaukauna—Harold Chamberlain, director of the Ripon college Glee club which will appear in Kaukauna at Brokaw Memorial Methodist church Saturday evening under auspices of the Ladies' society, has proved his versatility on more than one occasion.

Reared in an environment of musical activity, Professor Chamberlain in his college days at Oberlin, O., began his college career with athletics as his "hobby". In his first years he was a member of the basketball and track teams. Later he entered the Conservatory of Music and began his career as a singer with the Oberlin Glee club which his father, Williams E. Chamberlain, directed. Following his graduation from the conservatory he entered a career of choral directing and solo work which took him to several of the largest conservatories and churches in the middle west.

Professor Chamberlain came to Ripon college five years ago. For the past four years he headed the music school of the college. Under his direction and leadership the glee clubs rapidly improved and are now considered among the best among the middle west colleges. This year Mr. Chamberlain remarked that "the 1930 Ripon Glee club is the best we have had since I came to Ripon".

Many special and novel features are promised the Kaukauna audience. The club boasts a fine array of vocal and instrumental soloists, including John Miller, baritone, James Hudson, clarinetist and saxophonist, and Henry Brooks, pianist. The latter is a youth of 17 years, but is regarded by many Wisconsin musical critics as a young genius.

NORMAL STUDENTS IN FINAL QUARTER OF YEAR

Kaukauna—Students of the Outagamie Rural Normal school entered their last quarter of the school year this week. The third quarter closed Friday. One Starves And Stays Fat

One Eats And Keeps Thin

YOU see that everywhere. Most fat people are careful of their diet. Many are active. Yet they see plenty who stay slender while eating what they wish.

Some years ago, science found the reason in an under-active gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Since then, physicians the world over have fed that gland substance in treating obesity.

Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory, contain that factor at its best. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. All can see in every circle how conditions have changed in that time. Only a small percentage now stay over-fat.

Marmola is not secret. Each box contains the formula and the reasons for results. Users know why this is the right way. No starvation is required, though moderation helps.

Perhaps you have found that self-denial fails to make you slender. If so, try Marmola, which has done so much for so many, for so long. Watch the results. They will quickly tell you if this is what you need. Then go on until you reach the normal weight desired. For your own sake, start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Advertising Can Perform Big Public Service In '30

Babson Park, Fla.—Well directed advertising can do more than any other one factor to hasten economic recovery in the United States. 1930 offers the advertising business both a challenge and an opportunity. The challenge is two-fold: first, to the business man who advertises, and second to the advertising man who prepares and directs his campaign. Business men must have the courage to maintain the face of the present in the face of the present business recession. The time to advertise is now. The time to advertise is now. The time to advertise is now.

Advertising likewise, offers two-fold opportunities. First, it enables individual business men to meet effectively the unusually severe competition of the present period, and second it renders the country a great economic service. The value of well directed advertising is too well known and too fully proven to require further comment. From a purely selfish standpoint it pays to keep up advertising, as thousands of individual experiences have proven. The general economic benefits to the country as a whole, however, are not so generally recognized.

WAYS TO ADVERTISE In 1929 we spent about 2 billion dollars on various kinds of advertising. This seems like a huge sum. Some critics say it is an enormous waste. They say that this 2 billion dollars advertising was a prime factor in moving about 40 billion dollars worth of goods to the consumer. Moreover, our consumption for advertising has reached anything like a total of 40 billion dollars. This is a total of 40 billion dollars. This is a total of 40 billion dollars.

CREATING NEW USES

We fear much today about the machine-made unemployed. This is a real problem. Labor-saving machinery has thrown many men out of work. Yet no one will deny that such machinery is necessary, and will in the long run reduce the cost of living. In the readjustment period, however, the streets looking for jobs, the crying need is for new industries in which they can be employed. As the copying has been largely responsible for the growth of our new industries, including radio, new foods, rayon, cellulose products, and many others, we will continue to develop new uses for the products of existing industries. All this means additional employment for those who are derived from their jobs either by the introduction of new machinery or by the introduction of new methods of assisting employment, a vital impetus to business progress.

Only within recent years have banks, insurance companies, investment bankers, and other financial institutions entered the advertising field on a large scale. 1929 saw more of this type than ever before. I expect this sort of advertising to grow rapidly for two very good reasons. First, reputable investment banks must present their story of sound investment to the public. Second, the public must be educated to the value of sound investment. The public must be educated to the value of sound investment. The public must be educated to the value of sound investment.

THE BIG SHOT

by FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: A chance meeting in New York with Phil Martin, a reporter, ripens into friendship and brings Enid Howard, embryonic novelist, to the threshold of adventure. Martin is seeking to penetrate the mystery of New York's gangdom, known as the Big Shot. He is aided by Shive Frank, a gangster who promises him a photograph of the underworld leader. Martin confides in Enid and the same night she is accosted on a dark street by Frank who gives her a package for Enid. She sinks away and before Enid's eyes is slain in a fusillade of machine-gun bullets from a speeding car. Enid flees to her room and finds her package contains a photograph of the master criminal. It is her brother.

CHAPTER 5
BLOOD CALLS TO BLOOD
IN the privacy of the little room she called home, Enid scrutinized the features of the man in the snapshot. It looked like Roy—her brother who had gone off to war and never returned.
Long years of silence had seemed to confirm a belief that he was dead but withal, Enid had never been sure. She had clung to a hope that some day he would come back.
From between portraits of her mother and father on the mantelpiece she took down a cabinet-sized, silver-framed photograph of a smiling, dark-eyed, clean-cut young soldier in Canadian uniform.
Her eyes filled suddenly with tears. Roy! They had been such chums. He had been too young when the war broke but had enlisted the day he had become old enough to do so. She had been so proud of him. He had gone over in '17—that was 13 years ago. She had been not quite 13 then, and he 18.
He had never come back. Just a few months before the armistice he had been reported missing. "Missing!" "Killed in action!" would have been easier to bear. "Missing!" It had hastened her mother's end. He had never come back.
Had he come now—like this? Was Roy, her brother whom she had adored and worshipped, a master criminal? She tried to tell herself it wasn't true.
She bent over the photographs and compared them critically. There was a difference in years, of course, but the same distinctive features were there. She was convinced the figure in the snapshot was Roy.

Her elbows were on the table now, her head tightly clasped in her hands. Granting that it was Roy, it didn't mean that he was a hunted criminal, that he was the Big Shot whom Phil Martin was so eager to trap. There was some mistake somewhere.
And yet why should Shive Frank have singled out an innocent man? And how, unless they had in some way been brought together, would a photograph of Roy be in the possession of a man of Shive Frank's stamp?
But that was not all. This was a picture of Roy. Therefore Roy was alive. Apparently he had been in America, for at least several years since the war. Why then had Roy never come home?
Why had he never written? Like a crushed thing her head went down on her desk and was buried in her arms. Her shoulders shook convulsively.
"I don't believe it!" she moaned. "I will never believe it—never, never—until I have found him, seen him with my own eyes, and he himself has told me it is true!"
Find him! Yes, she would find him! She rose impulsively to find her head thrown back, her eyes alight with resolution. The game in a sense was all in her own hands. Shive Frank would never telephone to Phil Martin now, and Phil Martin would never know she had the photograph—and neither would the police! Both the police and Phil Martin must be kept out of this until she had found Roy.
Well, she was free to do that. For another two weeks anyway, she would be alone in this house, the home of her old nurse Martha Debbins.
When Enid determined after the death of her parents in Winnipeg to pursue her literary efforts in New York it had been only natural that she should turn to Martha Debbins. She had been her childhood nurse and had given a maternal care to both Roy and her. Then Martha had married and gone to live in New York. But the contacts were maintained and Martha quickly responded to Enid's suggestion that she live with her while she was pursuing her writing.
With her two children, Martha was visiting in Maine with some relatives of her dead husband. He had died two years before, leaving a small competence and a home and Martha managed with that and her sewing.
Enid glanced at her wrist watch. One o'clock. It seemed incredible that it was only a half hour since she had left Phil Martin in the Gondola.
She laughed out a little—suddenly, unnaturally. What did it matter that it had been merely half an hour! All that mattered was that it was still not too late to do something now, at once—to begin her search for Roy tonight. She must find Roy before Phil Martin did.
The one thing she could do now was to go to Izzy Myer's place on 1st avenue. She did not expect to find Roy there from what Shive Frank had said, but there might be some of the gang present through whom she could obtain another clue that would lead her to Roy himself.
She picked up the snapshot and the photograph in the silver frame, and, carrying them into her bedroom, locked them in her trunk. There would be no portraits of Roy in evidence anywhere!
And now she restored the automatic to her handbag and stood for a moment inspecting herself critically in the mirror. The result satisfied her. She was all in black, naturally—her father's death had been very recent—and she was therefore as inconspicuously dressed as she could be. She could do nothing more in that respect.
She extinguished the lights and let herself out, locking the front door behind her. She lifted her shoulders in a grim little fatalistic way, and, descending the stoop, started to walk quickly toward First avenue.
(Copyright, Frank L. Packard.)
Hoping to succeed where others failed Enid seeks the Big Shot and finds adventure, tomorrow.

WHENEVER THE UNEXPECTED HAPPENS, SOMEBODY ALWAYS KNEW IT WAS GOING TO HAPPEN!

WEATHER IS ONLY THING IN WAY OF ROAD OPERATIONS

Money is Available and Controversial Points Are Smoothed Over

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington (CPA)—The steamroller of necessity is smoothing out the way for road and building construction. The weather now is the only thing that really is holding back operations.

Money is available and agreements have been reached on certain points which have been holding up operations by governmental and private forces. The senate has passed the Elliott-Keyes bill increasing the fund for government buildings by $230,000,000. It already has been acted on favorably by the house and signature by the president is anticipated daily.

The senate has also come to an agreement with the house as to the maximum amount which may be paid per mile for road construction on which federal aid is furnished. This created a somewhat bitter conflict between rural and urban sectors. Authorities in districts with heavy population and heavy traffic desired the limit placed at $25,000 because they wanted to build broad roads which would accommodate more than two lanes of traffic.

COUNTRY WANTS LESS
The rural districts contended for a maximum limit of $15,000 which would enable them to build roads narrower but of longer mileage in the less congested districts. An agreement finally was reached placing the limit at $25,000.

This comparatively minor difficulty has been holding up road construction to an extraordinary extent. Its importance can be realized in connection with the increase in motor vehicle registration.

The difficulties over the mechanical regulations in the building trades also have been ironed out. It was felt by some that the materials men were taking advantage of the lien laws and had encouraged the entry into the building field of a good many contractors not financially capable of fulfilling some contracts, since the materials men were sure that they would get their money under the lien laws.

Other obstructions in the building field are being smoothed away. Among these, Truman S. Morgan, president of the F. W. Dodge corporation, cites the struggle by the designers and fabricators and contractors. The attitude of the latter toward subcontractors, the intercast disputes of the building trades, racketeers and other factors annoying to the industry.

HARMONY IS CLOSER
Architects and general contractors are working in closer harmony in the way of specifications. The financially irresponsible contractors and sub-contractors are being eliminated. All this is reducing expenses in the building industry and stimulating additional construction.

The road construction programs undoubtedly will be the first to feel the new impetus. The increase in building construction according to authorities in the industry, will be more steady. It already is gaining and the pressure of federal assistance administration is counted on to bring the total for the year well up to last year's figures, with the movement gathering the greatest momentum in the late summer.

The improvement in the bond market has been as great an influence as could possibly have been applied to the building industry. The period of difficulty in financing construction projects seems to have passed, although the banks still are loaning for construction purposes with extreme conservatism. Building and loan associations are showing a decided increase in receipts. Some association have begun actively to solicit applications for home construction and for reconditioning.

SANATORIUM BUILDING COMMITTEE WILL MEET

The sanatorium building committee will meet next Friday afternoon at the courthouse, according to John F. Kantschke, county clerk. After the transaction of the routine business the committee will make a trip to the sanatorium at Little Chute for an inspection of the building work in progress there.

New Players, Scenery And Music Will Mark This Year's Passion Play

Oberammergau—(AP)—Marked contrast in the appearance and style of acting of the persons portraying Mary and Christ will be a feature of this year's Passion Play, which opens in May.

Tradition built up through the centuries of the Passion Play's history has ruled that the mother of Christ should appear a brunette. This year, however, a blonde, Anni Rutz will play the part and upset the long-standing rule. The new Mary also is more girlish than former actresses in the part. Her speaking voice is a melodious contralto.

Alois Lang, playing the Christ, probably will interpret the role in marked contrast to the work of Anton Lang. Anton's manner of portrayal has become almost as traditional as the brunette Mary. He is fair-haired, and this year will speak the prolog.

A more lyrical interpretation of the role of Christ is expected from Alois, and his dark hair and beard will increase the departure from the traditional impersonation by Anton.

Changes have been made also in the play itself. The old text and musical score have been completely revised, and the stage and its equipment have been modernized. Costumes and properties are being made by a large staff chosen from Oberammergau's people, under the supervision of George Lang, the stage manager who stands almost seven feet tall.

Rehearsals are under way, and the 600 players in the cast, together with the chorus and orchestra of 50 each, are becoming familiar with their parts. The dressing rooms are labeled according to their occupants, with such designations as "Roman Room," "Room of the Traders," and "Room of the Priests."

PILOT IN SECOND NARROW ESCAPE AS HIS PLANE FALLS

Warren, Ohio—(AP)—The hoodoo of the "last run" nearly got Harry A. Seivers, air mail pilot, but he beat it by a narrow margin and today was one of the few fliers who have twice qualified for membership in the Caterpillar club.

Seivers, making his last trip on the Cleveland-Pittsburgh route, yesterday, barely escaped with his life when a snow squall forced him to take to his parachute and sent his plane crashing to the ground.

Near here, a coating of ice began to form on the wings and wires of the plane. Then a snow squall came up and the ship went out of control at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Seivers tried to jump at once, but the centrifugal force of the spin prevented him from breaking away until he was only 200 feet from the ground. He hit hard and was knocked unconscious. The plane was wrecked but the mail was saved and sent on by train.

Seivers first qualified for the Caterpillar club, whose members have saved their lives in parachutes, last October when he "stepped over the side" as his motor developed trouble near Beaver Falls, Pa. He had another narrow escape early this month when he was lost in a snow storm over Cleveland, but he managed to land in Edgewater park.

PAYS FINE OF $10 FOR DRIVING CAR TOO FAST

Clarence J. Deml, route 5, Appleton, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested Sunday evening by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, for traveling 40 miles an hour on Memorial-dr.

British breeders of small fur-bearing animals will form an organization to promote their industry.

TWO HOME ECONOMICS MEETINGS ARRANGED

Two meetings have been arranged with home economics groups next week by Miss Harriet Thompson, county club leader. The first will be held Wednesday at Seymour where groups from Seymour, Osborn, Cicero and Oneida will be present. On Friday there is to be a meeting at Medina with groups from Medina, Hortonville and Greenville present. At both meetings Miss Thompson will discuss Home Decorations and given demonstrations of curtain and drapery making.

CHARGE DRIVER DIDN'T STOP FOR ARTERIAL

Erwin Borse, Ninth-st., Kaukauna, was arrested Sunday evening by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, on a charge of failing to stop for an arterial at the corner of Richmond-st and Wisconsin ave. He will appear in municipal court Monday afternoon before Judge Theodore Berg to answer charges.

PUBLIC GETS "PUY DE DOME"

"Puy de Dome," the famous beauty spot in France, has been saved from commercialization and will be the property of the public. The victory ended a long battle between public and private interests. The volcanic cone, one of many in the vicinity, was owned by a large number of small proprietors, and recently a movement to buy them out and erect a hotel and amusements places at the summit was started. The "Puy" was put up at auction and the Department's offer was overbid, but because of public opinion a second sale was held and the purchasers stood down to allow the Department to acquire the place for $5,880.

$1,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE

Sparks from Chimney Set Fire to Roof of John Hoerning Home

Damage estimated at $1,000 was caused at the residence of John F. Hoerning, 1517 N. Superior-st about 9 o'clock Sunday morning when sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof.

The firemen battled the blaze for more than an hour before it was finally put out after badly damaging the roof and attic of the home. Most of the damage was confined to the roof and attic because the blaze was fought almost entirely with chemicals. The loss is covered by insurance.

When the firemen arrived a group of neighbors, attracted by the fire, had succeeded in carrying most of the furniture from the home.

Mr. Hoerning and his family occupy the first floor of the house and the John Wood family occupy the flat on the second floor.

LIKES OUR LAW
Vienna—Prohibition is the greatest cultural step ever taken by the United States, according to Prof. Julius Tandler, noted surgeon and chief of welfare institutions here. He declares that this law has greatly benefited the economic situation of the working classes. In Austria drinking has held down the working class, and one-third of the inmates of lunatic asylums are also alcoholic victims.

There are dust particles even in the purest air, and these cause the blue sky by scattering, dispersing and reflecting the light from the sun.

Who Will Be Lucky Boys, Girls To Win Prizes In Washington Contest This Week?

Who will be the lucky boys and girls to receive prizes this week in the Appleton Post-Crescent's On To Washington contest?

A new week starts today and the contest editor hopes he will be flooded again with letters from the rural boys and girls of the county as he has been in the weeks past.

Remember, boys and girls, there is another stack of letters waiting to be distributed to the boys and girls who send in the best ideas this week on how to make money for the trip to Washington next June.

The contest is an easy one. Already 56 boys and girls have received half-dollars for the ideas they sent to the contest editor. Ask them about it. How hard did they have to work?

And how nicely did that extra half-dollar fit into that fund which needs to reach $25 before next June?

Remember, it's easy to win. If the idea you have for earning money for the trip is original, clever and practical the contest editor will award you a prize. Of course not every letter wins a prize. But so many of them do that there is a question if you keep trying hard.

Nice, France—A restaurant I've advertised that for $3.25 one could dine in the company of the American ambassador. Mr. Edge, who is on an official inspection tour, objected. Whereupon the restaurant had a party from those who paid the $3.25 by plants and screens.

long enough you will win one also. So far more than 800 letters have been received by the contest editor. This has been very gratifying because it proves the boys and girls are interested enough in the contest to want to try. It also proves they are interested in the trip to Washington and are seeking ways and means of earning the money to pay their expenses next June on the arduous trip to Washington.

STOCKS LOWER AS PROFIT-TAKING WAVE HITS MARKET

Score of Issues Drop from 1 to 5 Points Lower Than Saturday Close

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York, March 31.—The stock market moved into new high ground for the last week, turned irregular today under a heavy wave of profit-taking. A score or more issues dropped 1 to 5 points below Saturday's quotations, with a sprinkling of specialties down 6 to 17 before the decline was checked in the early afternoon by a spirited demand for U. S. Steel common, which was the market's only stock to rise.

Trading was again in enormous volume, with the ticker running about half an hour behind the market, the hourly average of sales running well over 1,000,000 shares. The mid-day reaction apparently was based on technical considerations, the recent price advance in many issues obviously having weakened their market position and rendered them vulnerable to selling pressure. When word was passed back from the stock exchange to the brokerage houses that prices were lower on the floor than those appearing on the tape, which was far behind, there was a rush on the part of many traders to take profits.

Case fell 17 points to 253, but quickly rebounded to 264. Worthington Pump broke 123 and Columbian Carbon, Houston Oil, Western Union and Vanadium Fell 4 to 6 points before they met effective buying support. General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, American Power & Light, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher and Checker Cab were carried down 2 points or more, but most of them recovered at least part of their losses by the end of the hour.

LITTLE NEWS
The day's business news was rather meagre in character. Chicago steel mill operations were reported as being maintained around 90 per cent of capacity. The inspiration and Miami Copper companies reported a substantial increase in earnings last year. One of the most unfavorable developments of the day was the announcement that Sears Roebuck sales for Feb. 27, 1929, had fallen below $3,000,000 below the corresponding period last year, the first decrease since February 1927.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent with the supply of funds rather limited. Time money, commercial paper and bankers acceptances rates held firm.

Radio was an active feature in the afternoon trading, crossing 55 to 56. A series of 5,000 to nearly 15,000 changed hands at frequent intervals. Publication of the annual report showing earnings of about $1.60 a share was in line with Wall Street's expectations, but the sharp reduction in inventories since the first of the year was regarded as the chief bullish factor in the report. American Telephone & Telegraph, General Electric, Paramount Pictures, Columbia Gas, North American, United Corporation, United Gas Improvement, Southern California Edison and Adams Express were among the many other issues to reach new high levels.

Buying of the rails slowed up somewhat although Pennsylvania, Wabash, Chicago Great Northern, Common, New York, Ontario & Western and Allegheny Corporation, all registered new 1930 peaks. A series of bullish demonstrations in the utilities, carrying American Telephone to 266, a new high for the year. American & Foreign Power, American Power & Light and Commonwealth & Southern were strong. A 31,000 share block of the last mentioned changed hands at 19. Buying of the oils revived at Sinclair, crossed 29 to its high 1930 price. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 5,100,000 shares.

BOND MART LISTLESS WITH LITTLE TURNOVER

New York—(AP)—The bond market was listless today, showing small fluctuations and small turnovers as money rates held firm over the month-end period. Some of the easiness that marked the course of prices last week was still apparent, but the proportions of the decline continued negligible.

Convertible bonds absorbed much of the activity. American Telephone 4 1/2s, after crossing 154 for apost-nepant, reacted a point or two. International Telephone 4 1/2s stepped into prominence as the shares advanced and moved well above 120 to new high for the movement. Warner Brothers Pictures and Baltimore & Ohio 4 1/2s equalled their best prices.

Fractional losses in such bonds as Southern Railway General 4 1/2s, Western Union 4 1/2s, Missouri Pacific General 4 1/2s, North American Edison 5s and Canadian Pacific 4 1/2s reflected the apathy of the market. There were many firm spots in all groups.

Foreign issues held steady, failing to vary to any important measure from the Saturday close. Changes in United States governments were confined to the smaller fractions.

GRUNDY'S ACTIVITY AS LOBBYIST NOW THREATENS CAREER

Finds Himself Facing Problem in His Race for Re-election to Senate

BY PAUL HARRISON
Philadelphia—United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, seeking nomination for the office he now holds only by virtue of appointment, may find his political career menaced by the Joseph R. Grundy who was a lobbyist.

That his cause is likely to be seriously damaged by his recent testimony before the Senate lobby committee, Grundy was not a bit embarrassed in admitting that a magazine editor and "tariff expert" is in his personal employ.

But on the eve of a primary campaign which promises to be even more bitter, if less expensive, than that which involved Pennsylvania in scandal in 1926, it is an open secret here that all the outspoken prejudices of Grundy against women voters, against social uplift legislation, and against labor in general will be revived to plague him.

BIG BATTLE LOOMS

Lobbyist Grundy, by sheer power of campaign contributions and his position as president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, is credited with having made governors, congressmen and legislators, but never before has he held public office. Haired upon his Senate appointment a few months ago as the first real contender for the giant toe of the late Senator Boies Penrose, Grundy today is the center of a factional maelstrom.

Leading the forces of opposition at the primary is William S. Vare, contractor-boss of the Philadelphia Republican organization whom the Senate rejected only to have Grundy get the place. No candidate himself is Vare, but his machine is united and well-oiled. He is backing, in the Senate race, the very man of whom Grundy said in a politically historic utterance of 1921:

"I will not sit down at the same table with a man who carries a Union card in his pocket."

That man, who rose from an iron-puddler among the tall stacks and blazing furnaces of Pittsburgh to a cabinet officer under three presidents, is James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor.

Grundy's curt refusal to break bread with a protagonist of organizer labor was made in response to a dinner invitation from the late Gov. William C. Sproul. The remark was considered typical of the industrial czar.

Joseph Ridgeway Grundy was born a Quaker, and even now at 57, he sometimes slips into the use of "thee" and "thou" when aroused. Of medium height, he is inconspicuous in appearance—white hair and moustache, gold-rimmed spectacles, pink-faced, lively, twinkling eyes.

He and his father before him were students of politics. The son inherited the Grundy worsted mills in his home town of Bristol. He learned the business from the bottom up, and it has made him very wealthy.

Republicanism and a high protective tariff for industry, particularly Pennsylvania industry, have been his ruling obsessions. No one doubted him when, on the witness stand in Washington, he said: "The tariff is next to my religion."

His political manipulations and alliances are too numerous to mention. He and Vare have been good friends and bitter enemies half a dozen times. Grundy has not always won his political dictation, but defeat there never seemed to halt the efficacy of his lobby. He commands huge sums of money. In the 1924 campaign alone, he and his committee raised "at least $700,000," according to his own testimony.

In the 1926 campaign, he backed John S. Fisher for the governorship and Pepper, previously an enemy, for the senate. Fisher won, but Vare defeated Pepper. So Grundy immediately switched over and became, for the first time, an ally of Vare. But Grundy lost a lot of friends during this hectic campaign, and former Governor Gifford Pinchot, now trying to win back his old job, is said to be one of them.

Thus the fight in Pennsylvania today. Having lost the senate seat through the ousting of Vare, the Philadelphia organization demanded the right to pick the next governor. Its choice fell on the broad shoulders of Francis Shunk Brown.

Had any other man been selected by the Vare machine, it is believed certain that Grundy, in need of Vare's support to insure his return to the Senate, would have approved.

But of all persons, Brown is the man who, as attorney-general of the Keystone state in 1915, defied the will of Grundy and helped force through the legislature a workmen's compensation act, a child labor law, and laws regulating the working hours of women.

Grundy, they say, never forgives or forgets. He would not accept Brown as his running mate, and that was that. All the wranglings of mutual friends and state committeemen were in vain.

For his own running mate, Grundy has selected Samuel S. Lewis, a former state treasurer. Lewis is credited with being unpopular with the women of Pennsylvania, whose thrust delivered in Boston is now being dug up, to be flung back into his teeth. For Grundy said, in a speech: "The electorate is adulterated by 40 per cent of women who are not interested in the tariff or other important legislation."

The anti-Grundy element will make the most of this. For the rest, the issues will be clean-cut: Industrial domination against the democracy of labor, with prohibition playing a minor part.

Pennsylvania has learned its lesson of big expenditures from the fate that befell Vare after the 1926 campaign, and the use of money doubtless will be carefully limited on all sides.

Stockholm —(AP)—The year 1929 was a record period for Sweden's foreign trade. Official reports reveal that $845,000,000 worth of wood pulp, butter, iron ore, and eggs were exported. There was a $9,720,000 surplus of exports over imports.

PUPILS TO TEST SEED CORN AS SCHOOL WORK

Older pupils of Outagamie-co rural schools will aid their parents this year by testing seed corn as a part of their school work, under a plan devised by Gus Sell, county agent, and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

The newspaper or fruit jar test is to be used by the pupils, under instruction of their teachers, and details of the test are being mailed to each teacher.

The use of the system in the schools, Mr. Sell pointed out, would be available because of the practical application of school work to a farm problem and at the same time because the students are assisting their parents in determining whether their 1930 seed is fit for planting. Teachers are asked to make reports on the number of students making tests and the results they obtained.

4 PUPILS HAVE PERFECT ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Four students of the Elmdale rural school, town of Grand Chute, have perfect attendance records for the year, according to a report received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, from Miss Margaret Kronz, teacher of the school. They are Anna Joosten, Ethel Thyssen, Helen and Mae Boettcher. Five pupils had perfect records for the last five weeks. They are: Gerard Van Hieswz, Gladys Brooks, Mable, Bernice and Donald Vander Velden.

DON'T FOOL WITH RADIO HOOK-UP, IS CALDWELL'S ADVICE

Former Commissioner Opposed to Reduction in Power

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington, (AP)—Tumblings of the moment in Washington to revamp the existing set-up in the broadcast band by curtailing power and reducing cleared channels bring forth a roar of condemnation from O. H. Caldwell, former radio commissioner, who patterned the present structure.

To reduce power from its present 50,000 watt maximum would be a step in the wrong direction, he says, while a cut in the number of cleared channels set aside for high powered stations along with it would result in a breakdown of the fundamental principles of good broadcasting allocation. Political expediency rather than established engineering facts is responsible for these disquieting reports, asserts the engineer-publisher.

Mr. Caldwell advocates an increase rather than a decrease in the number of cleared channels, for, he argues, the remote listeners who are located in areas distant from broadcasting stations can get their radio only from stations operating on such channels. He urges that the maximum power be increased to 500,000 watts on cleared channels, rather than reduced to 25,000 watts as is now proposed to the commission by certain of its members.

FUNDAMENTALS FEW

"Every friend of radio broadcasting will look with consternation on efforts that are being made to break down those fundamental principles of good broadcasting allocation which secure the best radio reception for the greatest number of listeners," Mr. Caldwell declared. "These fundamentals are few and simple."

"Clearer or exclusive channels for great stations serving vast audiences;

The capacity of the plant will be about 500 gallons of ice cream daily.

the greatest possible power on cleared channels (from 50,000 to 500,000 watts); 50-kilocycle separations between all stations in the same community, and adequate geographic intervals between stations of 1,000 watts and less operating on the same wavelength.

"All of these principles are now under attack at Washington by politically-minded opponents who do not realize the damage to radio their ill-advised efforts may bring. Cleared channels and high powered stations mean good radio for our millions of farmers and remote listeners who are located 100 miles away from good broadcasting stations. Proper separations of 50 to 100 kilocycles between stations in the same community are necessary to permit cross-talk and interference between programs in listeners' sets."

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowels muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

STATE IS ELEVENTH IN MOTOR VEHICLES

Wisconsin Ranks Ninth in Union in Value of Fees and Fines

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Wisconsin was eleventh of all the states in the number of motor vehicles registered in 1929, and ninth in the value of fees and fines collected, according to the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Wisconsin's state registration authorities registered 793,502 motor vehicles, including passenger automobiles, taxis, busses, motor trucks, road tractors and trailers, and motorcycles, in 1929.

The value of license fees, registration fees, permit fees, and all fines collected in Wisconsin in 1929 equaled $11,780,703.

The total number of registrations issued in the United States in 1929 equaled 26,501,443, an increase of 2,008,319 or 8 per cent over the 1928 figure.

The total fees collected equaled $347,845,543, representing an increase of $25,213,518 over the 1928 total.

After the deduction of $24,503,737 for collection and miscellaneous purposes, the balance of $323,337,806 was applied to highway improvements, construction, and maintenance with $223,292,969 going to State funds; $66,861,384 to local funds, and $33,183,473 to State and county bond funds.

The select ten states in number of registrations which just did out distance Wisconsin were: New York, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Texas, Indiana, New Jersey, and Massachusetts. Massachusetts, the lowest of the ten, had only 24,202 more registrations than Wisconsin.
